SHOT WIFE FIRED AT HER HUSBAND KILLS A WOMAN

Mrs. Agnes Fitzsimmons Steps Into Doorway as Her Tenant Pulls Trigger.

COUPLE QUARRELING

Mrs. Dora Fischer Had Told Husband She Was Going to Leave Him.

Mrs. Agnes Fitzsimmons, 35 years old, was shot in the head and killed at her home, 2825 Cherokee street, by Mrs. Dora Fischer, 34 years old, who was firing a revolver at her husband, Chris Fischer, a chauffeur, at 9 a. m. today. The Fischers occupied two rear rooms of the Fitzsimmons home.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons heard her tenants quarreling and stepped through a folding door just as Mrs. Fischer opened fire on her husband. All of the shots missed Fischer. When Mrs. Fitzsimmons fell to the floor dead, Fischer ran from the house and drove to the Laclede Avenue Police Station in his automobile truck. He was held there as a witness.

Policemen who went to the house found Mrs. Fischer hysterical. Later at Police Headquarters she repeatedly cried "I can't believe I killed Mrs. Fitzsimmons. She was my dearest friend."

Child Playing in Yard.

Mrs. Fischer's 7-year-old daughter by a former marriage, Ellen Robinson, was playing in the rear yard when the shooting occurred. Two other children, twin boys, 12 years old, are with a sister at Whitewater, Mo.

Mrs. Fischer, at police headquarters, said she divorced Henry Robinson last December and married Fischer a week later. She alleged he refused to support her and spent most of his earnings at a lid club at Theresa avenue and Market street. To pay board for herself and children, she said, she depended on allimony paid to her by her first husband.

Fischer had not been home since Saturday night, his wife said. According to her statement he entered the house about 5:30 a. m. today and said he had been sleeping with a dog in the garage in the rear of the house. The motor truck which he drove for the St. Louis Liquid Carbonic Co. stood at the front door.

Mrs. Fischer said she had told her husband she was going to leave him and he asked her this morning if she still intended to do so. She replied that she did and he ordered her to pack his clothes. She gave him a cup of coffee and he departed, saying he would return for his clothes later.

Returns for His Clothes.

Fischer returned at 9 a. m. He took his dog from the stable and put it in the truck and then entered the house for his clothes. There a quarrel started.

Mrs. Fischer said she reproached her husband for his habits and he retaliated by calling her names.

"I stood it as long as I could," she said, "and then I reached up on a wardrobe and took down a revolver. Chris ran toward the front of the house and I shot at him five times. Mrs. Fitzsimmons stepped into the room while I was firing and I saw her fall face forward. She had taken no part in the quarrel."

Fischer's version was the same as his wife's except that he denied he had failed to support her.

The Fischers until a short time ago lived at 4155 North Grand avenue.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons and her husband, George Fitzsimmons, a plumber, separated about a year ago, after she had caused him to be examined as to his sanity. Health department doctors said he was sane. He is said to be in Dayton, O.

JEROME K. JEROME WILL DRIVE MOTOR AMBULANCE IN FRANCE

English Humorist, Barred From Army by Age, Accepted for Skill as Driver.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Jerome K. Jerome, the English humorist, who is 57 years old, has been accepted as driver of a motor ambulance by the Red Cross and soon will be assigned to service in Flanders.

Being barred from the army on account of his age, Jerome fretted from the beginning of the war because he could not help. He has kept himself in good physical condition and is an adept at the motor wheel. That qualification won his acceptance.

FORD ANSWERS LIBEL SUIT

Does Not Retract Statements About Navy League.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Henry Ford, through counsel, filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today his answer in the $100,000 libel suit brought against him by the Navy League of the United States on account of a newspaper advertisement impugning the motives of the league and its officers in their preparedness propaganda. Ford does not retract the statements complained of, but declares he had reason to believe they were true and that they had been published broadcast throughout the country and made often in Congress without bringing a denial from the league, so far as he knew.

He points out that he voluntarily accepted service in the suit, in spite of the advice of counsel that he was not obliged to do so.

EDISON FOR 10-HOUR DAY FOR OTHERS, BUT OFTEN WORKS 18

Returns From Camping Trip to Mountains; Praises President for Preventing Strike.

ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 11.—Working 18 or 20 hours a day himself, whenever he feels like it, Thomas A. Edison, who returned to his home yesterday from a ride and camping trip through the Berkshires and the Adirondacks with John Burroughs and others, advocated a 10-hour working day for others.

"Reduction in the number of working hours from 10 to 8 does not necessarily make for efficiency," the inventor said.

He praised President Wilson for his handling of the threatened railway strike matter, but said it was not settled, merely postponed.

POLICEMAN WINS GOOSE, THEN ARRESTS STREET FAIR DEALER

Test to Be Made Whether Raffles at Merchants' Exhibitions Are to Be Permitted.

John W. Christmann of 4756 Leduc street, proprietor of a concession at the Easton avenue merchants' street fair, Euclid avenue and Aldine place, was arrested last night after a policeman in plain clothes had won a goose at Christmann's booth. The goose is held as evidence at the Deer street station.

The policeman bought a numbered postcard from Christmann and later was told he had won a goose. The police intend to test whether raffles conducted at street fairs are illegal. Circuit Attorney Harvey a year ago decided there should be no prosecutions in such cases.

DECLARE KERENS PLANNED TO DIVIDE ESTATE EQUALLY

Several Friends Say He Had Told Them Children Would Be Provided For Alike.

WILLING TO TESTIFY

Attorney for Richard C. Jr. Says He Has Not Decided Yet on Will Contest.

Nathan Frank, attorney for Richard C. Kerens Jr., told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he must have more time to study the construction of the will of Richard C. Kerens, former Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, who left an estate of $5,000,000, in which is a conditional trust bequest of $200,000 to his son, Richard, before he could decide upon a contest in behalf of his client.

Richard Kerens now has an income of $6000 a year from the estate of his mother. The provisions of $200,000 for him in his father's will is conditional on the exhaustion of the source of this income, which is not at all likely, according to Frank, thus practically cutting his client off from any share in his father's estate. A clause of the will also eliminates any contestant from benefit, but his client has nothing to lose in event of a contest, as he will not become a beneficiary until his mother's estate is exhausted, which may never be.

From the tenor of Attorney Frank's remarks, it would seem likely that a contest of the will will be made.

"The will and certain papers bearing on its construction are so voluminous and its provisions so involved that it will require deep study before the interpretation of its clauses can be arrived at," said Frank. "The documents were placed in my hands only a few days ago and I have not had time to make a proper examination of them.

"Since the information has got out that a contest is likely, I have received many telephone calls from friends of my client's father, who expressed surprise at the manner in which my client and his brother, Vincent, were provided for in the will. These persons told me the elder Kerens had discussed a will with them in which he said he had provided equally for all his children, and they assured me they would testify to this effect in event of a contest."

The Kerens will was executed in Pittsburg last April. Its principal clauses bequeath the bulk of the estate to Mrs. E. G. Hamilton Colket, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. E. D. Kenna, of England, daughters, and two conditional bequests to Richard and Vincent, sons.

VOTE ON NEW YORK CAR MEN'S PLEA FOR SYMPATHY STRIKE

Result of Request That All Union Men Go Out Will Be Delayed Several Days.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Members of trade unions in New York, Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle today are factors in the dispute between the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. and its employes as a result of an appeal from the Central Labor bodies for a sympathetic strike of all organized wage earners in their jurisdiction.

Since the response to this appeal must be decided by vote of members, several days must elapse before its effect will be known.

While the elevated and subway lines continued running today without apparent interruption, the strike on the surface lines has spread rapidly. Union officials assert 11,600 men are on strike. No cars ran in Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle yesterday and every surface car stopped running last night in Manhattan and the Bronx.

IRISH TROOPS TOOK GINCHY POSITIONS IN 18 MINUTES

Two Assaults, of 8 and 10 Minutes, Carry Fortified Cellars and Mud Fort on Somme.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 11.—The battle for the ridge between Thiepval and Ginchy redoubled in fury yesterday afternoon, when the British successfully stormed the right bastion. The artillery fire the two preceding days was continuous and of terrific intensity.

The result of the tremendous bombardment was that German trenches were destroyed over a four-mile stretch and their garrisons took refuge in shell holes and the fortified cellars of the village of Ginchy. The British troops left their trenches about 4:30 a. m. The main attack against the village of Ginchy was entrusted chiefly to the Irish. The German fortifications consisted of cellars fitted with ingenious loopholes for rifles and machine guns and a mud fort in the center, which bristled with machine guns.

The fighting was desperate, but the Irish carried through their first attack in eight minutes. After half an hour they again came to the assault and in 10 minutes had established themselves in position north of the village.

JOINT COMMISSION RESUMES HEARING ON MEXICO PROBLEM

Various Plans for Border Patrol Will Be Considered—Gen. Bliss to Give Advice.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 11.—The American-Mexican joint commission resumed today its effort to find a solution for the problems along the international boundary. This was the third joint discussion. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican delegation, presided.

Since their meeting three days ago the American members have devoted much time to a study of Government reports on the various phrases of the border problem. They entered the meeting today prepared to go into a detailed examination of the various plans for border patrol that have been suggested. They are counting also on the personal knowledge of the situation which Major-General Tasker H. Bliss will be able to supply on his arrival from Washington.

So far there has been nothing more than general mention of the Mexican Government's request that Gen. Pershing's forces be withdrawn from Mexico.

SEPT. 17 IS FIXED FOR BIG RAILWAY STRIKE IN ENGLAND

Men Demand $2.50 a Week More and Want Government to Regulate Food Prices.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The situation in the railway world arising from demands of the men for an increase in wages of 10 shillings ($2.50) a week has become increasingly serious. At a meeting of 3000 railway workers at Cardiff yesterday a resolution was adopted providing that unless the demands are conceded by Sept. 16 all railway work will be stopped in South Wales at midnight Sept. 17.

The resolution also stated that the advance in wages should date from July 1 and that the Government should give a definite guarantee that it will control the supply of food and regulate prices hereafter. The resolution was carried without a dissenting vote.

There is little likelihood the Government will yield to the demand concerning the food control.

ADOPT SLOGAN "TO BEAT WILSON"

Illinois German-Americans Refuse, However, to Indorse Hughes.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 11.—The Hughes faction, led by Emil Prill of Chicago, was defeated in their effort to put over an indorsement for a presidential candidate at the closing session of the ninth annual convention of the Illinois Branch German-American Alliance, Saturday. The resolution was headed off by the conservatives led by J. B. Gummerman of Bloomington, who wanted to stand by former principles not to indorse any candidate. A slogan, however, was passed "to beat Wilson."

Aurora, Ill., was chosen as the 1917 convention city and officers elected include: President, Charles Christman, Chicago; fourth vice president, Paul F. Vogel, Belleville.

PINCHOT TO SUPPORT HUGHES

Progressive Leader Thinks Nation Would Fare Best Under Him.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Gifford Pinchot, prominently identified with the Progressive party, today made a statement in which he announced his intention of supporting Charles E. Hughes, although he neither is a Democrat nor a Republican.

"As a Progressive I believe in nationalism," says the statement. "So does Hughes. I am certain that under Hughes the Progressive policies will fare better than under Wilson, and that the safety, honor and welfare of the country will be in immeasurably surer hands."

QUEBEC BRIDGE SPAN AND 90 MEN FALL INTO RIVER

It Is Estimated That Possibly 25 Lives Have Been Lost — Thousands See the Accident.

BIGGEST OF CANTILEVERS

Collapse Comes When Men Are Hoisting Steel Into Place in $17,000,000 Structure.

QUEBEC, Sept. 11.—The central span of the world's greatest bridge collapsed and fell into the St. Lawrence River at 10 o'clock today with a loss of life variously estimated up to 25. The company erecting the structure placed the number of deaths at 25, but H. P. Borden, a member of the Quebec Bridge Commission, declared that only three lives were lost. Several hours after the accident happened a special train into Quebec brought 20 men who had been injured. There were 90 men riding on the span as it went up.

Contradictory Stories Told.

Nine years ago a similar accident at the same spot took a toll of 70 lives. Today 90 men were carried into the river when the 5000 ton span, being raised from pontoons in an engineering feat designed to complete the $17,000,000 cantilever suspension for transcontinental railway traffic fell 15 feet into the water and sank 200 feet, perhaps never to be recovered.

Contradictory stories were told regarding the collapse. The pontoons had been removed and the span was being lifted by massive hydraulic jacks when, according to some of the spectators, the northern end fell with the breaking of girders. Frantic efforts were made to place a chain rope around the tottering structure but with reports like shells exploding the remaining supports snapped and the span disappeared with a tremendous splash.

Some of the observers said the structure also buckled at the center as it fell.

Groups of men at work slipped off into the water and others were knocked off by flying debris. Scores of craft containing spectators went to the rescue and the endeavors prevented a larger loss of life.

Chief Engineer McMillan was among the injured brought here. He was rescued by a tug. Five bodies have been recovered. Edward Jordanaiss, 22 years old, of Providence, R. I., is among the known dead. The engineer in charge of construction, named Porter, is among the survivors.

The span had been constructed on pontoons a few miles east of the bridge site and was towed into position immediately under the gap left in the anchor arms of the structure.

Chains with links 30 inches in diameter, together with girders, were then attached to the span and 8000-ton hydraulic jacks commenced the task of lifting the span into place.

Raising Slow Work.

This work could be accomplished only a few feet an hour and as the distane from the river level to the floor of the bridge is 150 feet, the engineers had not counted on completing the operation until the end of this week, or later. The bridge was to have been ready for train service next spring. The juggling of 5000 tons of steel attracted to the scene today several thousand spectators, including members of Parliament and newspaper men gathered on vessels furnished by the Canadian Government. Members of the Dominion Cabinet witnessed the collapse from the deck of a Government vessel, while American tourists crowded hundreds of other boats.

The same reports say that Germany will open a new submarine campaign Oct. 1.

REMOVALS BY PAINTER UPHELD

Supreme Court Puts New St. Joseph Police Board in Office Temporarily.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 11. The Supreme Court in banc this morning denied the application for a writ of supersedaes made by Joseph I. McDonald and U. G. Crandill, former Police Commissioners of St. Joseph, Mo. McDonald and Crandall were removed by Lieutenant-Governor Painter, while Gov. Major was absent. They refused to vacate the office in favor of the new appointees.

The ruling will place the new board in office until the case can be heard upon its merits. Hearing and arguments are set for Oct. 10.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 11.—Dr. U. G. Crandell and Joseph I. McDonald, Police Commissioners removed from office by Lieutenant-Governor Painter, today surrendered the police department here to the three members of the new board. This action followed the receipt of notice from Jefferson City that the Supreme Court had ruled against them on a writ of supersedas that sought to prevent the new Commissioners from assuming control until the higher court passes upon legality of their removal.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 11.—Fire of unknown origin today destroyed the buildings of the Pacific Steel Products Co., with a property loss estimated at $130,000. The plant had been in operation only five weeks.

President's Sister, Whose Critical Illness Takes Him to Connecticut

(Copyright, 1916, by Harris & Ewing.)

MRS. ANNE E. HOWE.

MAINE VOTE TODAY SAID TO BE NATIONAL INDEX

Issue of Federal Policy Fairly Forced on Electorate; Balloting Is Heavy.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—Voters of Maine went to the polls today to elect a Governor, two United States Senators, four Representatives to Congress, a State Legislature and a State Auditor.

National issues have been brought to the fore and party leaders brought hundreds of speakers into the State, including former Justice Hughes, former Vice President Fairbanks and members of President Wilson's Cabinet, to persuade the voters to line up with or against the national executive and the majority in Congress.

Maine, however, is normally Republican, and the Democratic leaders insist something more than a scant Republican victory will be required to constitute repudiation of the administration, while a Democratic plurality, however small, would be accepted by them as an indorsement. Fair weather prevails and this is expected to cause a big vote.

The State officers are now Democratic, and that party has one United States Senator and one of the four Congressmen.

In 1914 the Progressives cast 18,226 votes for Governor. How their vote will split today is a matter of dispute. Both sides claim they will receive sufficient Progressive support to carry the election.

Reports at noon from various parts of the State indicated that a heavy vote had been cast. Two arrests for alleged attempts to "repeat" were made in this city.

Maine Guardsmen on Mexican Border Vote at Their State Election.

LAREDO, Tex., Sept. 11.—Members of the Second Maine Regiment of national guardsmen on the Mexican border today voted in the elections held in their State, under a law passed during the Civil War. The ballots will be sealed and forwarded to the Secretary of State of Maine.

A detachment of the Second Maine Regiment, now in Zapata County, 60 miles down the Rio Grande, also received ballots.

JERSEYVILLE RESIDENTS NOT CERTAIN THEY HAVE A MAYOR

Some Contend That Alderman, Elected to Succeed Official Who Resigned, Was Chosen Illegally.

Residents of Jerseyville, Il., do not know whether they have a Mayor. Alderman P. C. Atchinson has been acting as Mayor, having been elected by the Board of Alderman when Mayor A. C. Robb closed his business here and moved to Chicago last spring on account of ill health. Now some Aldermen say the election of Atchison was illegal because Mayor Robb had not at that time left the city and are attempting to have another election.

Atchinson insists upon remaining in office unless Attorney-General Lucey, whose opinion has been asked for, should rule that he was illegally elected. Meanwhile he and his friends have thwarted all efforts to elect another Mayor by remaining away from Council meeting and preventing a quorum. It is said that in case Atchinson's election is declared illegal warrants for about $10,000 signed by him will be invalidated.

PRESIDENT GOES TO BEDSIDE OF SISTER

Mrs. Anne E. Howe Critically Ill at Her Home in New London, Conn.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 11.—Canceling all engagements, President Wilson left here early today to go to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. Anne E. Howe, who is critically ill at her home in New London, Conn. The President motored to New York and finished the trip by train.

The President arose before 7 o'clock, after having passed a restless night. He appeared to be greatly concerned over his sister's illness.

The departure of the President did not delay the opening today of the summer executive offices at Asbury Park by a staff of White House clerks.

Mrs. Howe's Physician Says She Is Growing Weaker.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Anne E. Howe, President Wilson's sister, who is critically ill of peritonitis and complications here, passed a comfortable night, but is growing weaker, according to a statement issued today by Dr. H. M. Lee, the attending physician. Dr. Lee spent most of the night at Mrs. Howe's bedside.

DAIRY TO SUE ON BONDS OF SOME OF STRIKING DRIVERS

St. Louis Co. Official Charges All of Collections Were Not Turned in When Walkout Began.

R. L. Kayser, general manager of the St. Louis Dairy Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the company is preparing to make a number of claims against bonding companies for amounts which, he declared, were collected by drivers now on strike, and were not turned in.

He said the company paid off its striking employes before investigating their reports of collections. In some cases, he declared, he found accounts which the drivers reported unpaid had been paid and that the customers had receipts.

The reporter asked Kayser whether, in case the strike were settled, drivers whose reports of collections were found inaccurate would be taken back. He replied that the strike would not be settled, but that the company would henceforth run an "open shop."

D. C. Kerckhoff, president of the Pevely Dairy Co., said he had found some instances of collections not reported by the men now on strike. Adam R. Thornton, manager of the Union Dairy Co., said he had begun an inquiry, but had found nothing wrong thus far. The "big three" dairies said they had more retail wagons out today than on any other morning since the strike began on Aug. 8.

The Willco Farm Dairy Co., which has 12 retail wagons, has signed an agreement with the drivers' union, on the same terms as that signed by the Grafeman company, which have not been made public. The Willco dairy was not involved in the strike.

BRITISH TAKE OFFENSIVE, CROSS STRUMA IN GREECE

They Gain Footing on Eastern Bank of Stream, 40 Miles Northeast of Saloniki, and Attack Villages Occupied by Bulgarians.

Germans and Bulgarians Take Silistria on Danube—Have Reclaimed Most of Ceded Territory.

Heavy German Attacks on New Allied Positions on the Somme Front Are Repulsed.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—British troops on the front in the Greek Macedonia took the offensive last night. They crossed the Struma River, the War Office announced today, and attacked the Bulgarians, who are resisting desperately.

The British troops crossed the Struma under fire. Having gained a footing on the eastern bank at a point 40 miles north of Saloniki, they attacked the village of Nevolysm and Karabjabes.

The statement says:

"On the Struma front British troops crossed the river at Ortiak, under the fire of the enemy, and attacked on the left (eastern bank), the villages of Nevolyen and Karabjabes, where the enemy is obstinately defending himself.

From the region west of the Vardar to Lake Doiran our artillery violently bombarded Bulgarian positions and made some effective practice on the enemy's batteries.

"On the Servian front a fresh withdrawal of Bulgarian advanced posts is reported."

A Servian official statement issued at Saloniki says:

"In the direction of Florina our artillery forced the Bulgarians to retire in disorder from some of their advanced trenches. In the direction of Kozani we expelled the Bulgarians from the villages of Paleschori and Emboria."

RUMANIANS FORCED FROM SILISTRIA, DANUBE FORTRESS

Official Statement Says Germans and Bulgarians Have Captured the Stronghold.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 11.—Official announcement was made yesterday that the German and Bulgarian forces that are invading Eastern Romania have captured the Rumanian fortress of Silistria, on the Danube, 60 miles southeast of Bucharest. The announcement follows:

"The Rumanians and Russians during the last few days appear to have suffered very considerable losses."

Silistria is on the line of the Rumanian fortresses on the southern bank of the Danube. It is 25 miles northeast of Turtukai, capture of which by the invaders was announced last week. It has figured as an important fortress in earlier wares. The town has about 1[illegible],000 inhabitants.

South of Dorna-Watra, in Southern Bukowina, near the Rumanian and Hungarian borders, the Germans have come in contact with Rumanian forces, the War Office also announced yesterday. The Russians gained ground west of Shypot, in the Carpathians, near Zabie.

Germans Fail to Retake Ginchy From the British.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Two efforts were made yesterday by the Germans to recapture Ginchy on the Somme front from the British, but it is announced officially the attacks were beaten off.

The official statement of yesterday said:

"As a result of the heavy fighting during the last week our line has been advanced on a front of 6000 yards to a depth varying from 300 to 3000. Severe defeats and heavy losses have been inflicted on the enemy and the important and strongly defended localities of Falfemont farm, Leuze wood, Guillemont and Ginchy have been wrested from him despite his utmost efforts to retain them. The spirit and dash of our troops during this severe fighting in the face of frequent and determined counter-attacks and constant and intense artillery fire has been magnificent.

Names of Generals on West Front Appear in German Reports.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 11.—The daily official reports have been mentioning names of Generals commanding on the western front since Field Marshal von Hindenburg became chief of staff. Yesterday's report said the British assault on the Thiepval-Combles line broke down under the tenacious resistance of the troops commanded by Gens. Marshall and Von Kirchbach and the French were repulsed in the Barleux-Belloy sector by the regiments commanded by Gen. von Quast.

Rumanians and Austrians Each Drive Other Back in Transylvania.

VIENNA, via London, Sept. 11.—After a battle along the road between Petroseny and Hatzeg in lower Transylvania, the invading Rumanian forces were driven back two and one-half miles, the War Office announced yesterday. The Rumanians then launched a new and strong attack against the southern wing of the Austrian forces which was compelled to retire.

FAIRBANKS DROPS INTO TOWN WHILE MARSHALL IS HERE

Republican Candidate for Vice President Is on His Way to Springfield, Mo.

DEMOCRAT HAS A COLD

Wilson's Running Mate Will Go to Joplin to Open State Campaign Tomorrow.

The next Vice President of the United States was in St. Louis this morning—either way you figure it.

Vice President Marshall, who will be re-elected if President Wilson is, was at Hotel Jefferson, trying to recover from a hard cold sufficiently to go to Joplin for the opening of the State Democratic campaign tomorrow.

Charles W. Fairbanks, former Vice President, who is now seeking a belated encore in that role, was in Union Station for breakfast, on his way from Maine to Springfield, Mo., where he is to speak tonight. Republicans who accompanied him to Springfield were National Committeeman Babler, Dwight F. Davis and Joseph B. Kealing of Indianapolis, who was Fairbanks' manager in the contest for the presidential nomination at Chicago last June.

Fairbanks in Private Car.

The Fairbanks party was in the private car Colonial. A rear-end speech at Lebanon the principal stop on the way to Springfield, was scheduled.

Reporters who hoped to get the latest news on the Maine situation from the candidate were disappointed. He would only name the places where he had spoken—Fairfield and Kittery—and say that things looked "favorable" to him. He asked the Post-Dispatch reporter about the situation in Missouri, remarking that he knew the Post-Dispatch was supporting President Wilson. When the reporter said that leading politicians considered the State as doubtful, with the probability of Democratic victory, he said the word "doubtful" had a pleasing sound.

When questions were asked about the strike settlement and other current topics of discussion, Fairbanks replied that he would have to reserve all he had to say for his speeches. "I am not interviewed about politics when I'm out speaking," he remarked.

The Springfield meeting will be the opening of the Republican campaign in Missouri, and Judge Henry Lamm, nominee for Governor, and Walter S. Dickey, who is running for the United States Senate, will speak.

Chairman Cowgill of the Democratic State Committee said this morning that from information he had received regarding Vice President Marshall's condition, he did not expect him to be able to make the trip to Joplin.

Marshall Rises Late.

Vice President Marshall arose late this morning, owing to his cold, but saw a Post-Dispatch reporter at 10 o'clock.

Clad in a blue coat, white flannel trousers, white hose and canvas shoes he seemed to enjoy lolling in an easy chair while he occasionally puffed a cigar.

Concerning the railroad situation he said that he hoped that employes and employers could agree upon an eight-hour day.

He pointed out that one week of a general railroad strike would likely have cost the entire country as much as five years' increase of wages to the employes. "The situation came on us suddenly," he continued, "just as everything has in this administration. It has been like looking into a kaleidoscope—you see one situation now—next week things have entirely changed.

"The situation had to be met. It was, and riots, famine and general devastation were averted. You see, in a democracy, the will of the majority rules. Speaking from a personal standpoint, I do not like to ride on a train when the trainmen have been working more than eight hours. And if it was a case of taking my choice, either working on a railroad train or enlisting in the United States army, why I would take the latter; my chances of being killed would be less."

Wants Congress Let Alone.

When asked for his opinion of persons who would have Congressmen pledged one way or the other in regard to the eight-hour law, he said:

"I'll tell you what, this country would be better off if the people would let Congress alone more. Sending countless letters, telegrams and memorials to Congressmen puts them in the position of trying to do what scientists say is an impossible physical feat—keeping both ears to the ground at the same time.

"You know the story of the old Pennsylvania Dutch Justice? The plaintiff's attorney had finished his plea. The defendant's lawyer started to speak. 'No use,' the Justice said. 'That decided me.' But the lawyer pleaded so hard that he was finally given a hearing. He spoke eloquently. When he finished the Justice looked up surprised, and said: 'Now don't that beat all—the defendant wins!'

"I've been in Washington three years and I've seen very little evidence of crookedness in Congress. Of course there are a few gentlemen there who, if they had been in the Council of Creation, would have argued three hours in favor of chaos—but even they mean well."

Must Keep Moving.

The Vice President said that times are changing, and that one must keep moving. "It's no use standing on the side lines—one had better get in the procession, or get left. Now, I'm a Democrat, an old-fashioned Indiana Democrat, and I hold to the Democratic view that my home must not be entered.

"But the law does enter it, to see if my plumbing arrangements are right, and I can't prevent it. But that is the change of the times. One thing I hate to see, though, is the gradual loss of the American home."

"You mean because so many persons are living in hotels, flats and apartment houses?" he was asked.

"Exactly. Old as I am, and cowardly as I might be, I would still shoulder a gun if necessary and fight for my home: but if I was living in a hall bedroom or an apartment I don't think I would fight for that," he added humorously.

BARON BURIAN SAYS ALLIES ARE FIGHTING USELESSLY; HE WOULD WELCOME PEACE

Austrian Foreign Minister Declares, However That Until Enemies Realize They Cannot Win, His Country Can Go on Defending Itself.

VIENNA, Sept. 7, via Berlin and London, Sept. 11.—Baron Stephen Burian von Rajecz, Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, today in an interview with the Associated Press correspondent, discussed the position of the dual monarchy in the war.

"We have the determination," said he, "to emerge from this sad and deplorable affair into which we were forced by a private affair with Servia and which the entente group made a pretext for a general descent upon ourselves and our allies. Sooner or later it must dawn upon our enemies that this entire business is useless. But I suppose not before the English Kitchener army has broken more heads against the steel wall of Germans in France, or the French have been further decimated, while the Russians are dying like flies every day in the East.

Can Still Defend Soil, He Says.

"But a ray of intelligence must break some time, which I hope will be soon, for the sake of all mankind. Until that day comes our enemies will always find us willing to do our best to defeat their evil plans. There may be some who say that for military reasons we ought to be the first to start the peace overtures. I do not think so, as long as our antagonists speak of the partition of our country among themselves. We have defended our soil pretty well so far and will do it longer—long enough to make the others tired of it, anyway."

"Austro-Hungary is far from lying down, as hoped by some," said the Minister in a convincing tone. "It is true we would hail peace with joy, but not the sort of peace our enemies would impose. So long as we have to defend ourselves against those who want to take part of our territory we naturally are unwilling to discuss peace, and so long we are also determined to hold out and win. The thought that we are eager for peace on any terms originates probably in minds hoping that such will become the case."

The Minister then reviewed the situation prior to Rumania's declaration of war, and said:

"We offered Rumania no territorial concessions at any time after having discovered in the case of Italy that the world was likely to mistake our reasonable attitude for weakness. Nor were we ever taken by surprise by Rumania. What did fool us was that Rumania made up her mind so quickly. We knew in June, after the setting of the latest Russian offensive, that Rome and Bratiano (the Rumanian Premier) has made a definite bargain. We also know that Rumania was not quite ready toward the end of August.

Made Military Preparations.

"For all that our military authorities made all possible preparations, which did not consist, as has been believed, in holding the mountain summits and passes along the Rumanian border, but which consisted in the establishment of the line of defense now occupied by our troops. Contrary to the general impression, the falling back of our troops has been of no advantage to the Rumanians which fact has finally dawned on the Rumanian military commanders, since they have become very cautious recently.

"The military field is not my department. I know that Rumania's action was no surprise, despite the fact that the Rumanian diplomats lied to me constantly. Toward the last their assurance became too fervent and their lying too patently obvious; so I reached the conclusion that trouble was not far off, whether the declaration of war was due; because, in addition, the reports from Bucharest indicated that the Russian pressure was getting more severe each day, the entente Governments wanting to add to the weight of their own futile offensives in the east, west and Saloniki, the great impression the war declaration was expected to make, but did, in reality, not make, because we were ready for it.

"I will say that Bratiano played a good game, though. When the entente finally had shown all its cards, Bratiano stiffened his own demands, which were granted fully some time before the outbreak of the war. Then Bratiano thought he would play the part of taking from the Austro-Hungarian corpse what he could.

"But the entente had its own notions, which Bratiano learned when he was told that he was mistaken if he thought his roll was merely taking pennies from a dead man. He was instructed to start immediately, for only in helping to down the central Powers could he hope to gain what he wanted. The declaration of war was, therefore transmitted.

"Well, Rumania will have a good chance to rue her bargain, if I am not mistaken. The fact is, we are far from completely dead, as some think."

Asked the reason for the opposition campaign against the Hungarian Premier, Count Tisza, Baron Burian said it was merely criticism, to indulge in which the opposition had the right, mingled to a certain extent with the principle of "ote toi que je m'y mette," meaning "get off, that I may take your seat."

Relations With America.

The discussion then touched on American-Austro-Hungarian relations, in the course of which the correspondent referred to the note sent to the American Government in connection with the export from the United States of arms and ammunition. The Baron said:

"It affords me great pleasure to say that the relations between the two governments are the very best. At the same time I must say that personally I still adhere to the views expressed in that note. America, in exporting large quantities of arms and ammunition, undoubtedly contributed to the long duration of this war and the damage thereby inflicted upon mankind is irreparable.

"We sent that note so that America might know our view. That the American Government could not agree to the note is the undeniable sovereign right of that nation. Thus the matter stands. On that subject we must always disagree, so far as my own personal opinion is concerned."

7 MEMBERS OF STEFANSSON EXPEDITION REACH SEATTLE

They Will Report at Once to Canadian Government on Observations—Escaped Wreck of Karluk.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—The steamship Northwestern arrived from Nome, Alaska, today with seven members of the Vilhjalmar Stefansson Canadian Arctic expedition that left Victoria, B. C., in the whaler Karluk June 17, 1913. The men are Dr. Rudolph M. Anderson of Des Moines, Io., second to Stefansson in command of the expedition; John J. O'Neill, geologist, of Port Colborne, Ontario; John R. Cox, topographer, Ottawa, Ontario; Diamond Jenness, anthropologist, Wellington, New Zealand; Fritz Johansen, naturalist, Copenhagen; George H. Wilkins, photographer, London, and Kenneth G. Chapman, topographer, New York.

Anderson and his party will go direct to Ottawa to report to the Canadian Government on their experiments. Anderson and his accompanying scientists escaped the misfortunes that were encountered by the branch of the expedition that went from Nome on the Karluk, which was wrecked in the Arctic ice the first winter out.

Thirteen members of the Stefansson expedition, including five scientists, perished in the North.

15 CHINESE KILLED IN MEXICO

Indian Raiders on Rampage Cause Ranchers to Flee.

NOGALEZ, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Yaquis raided Santa Barbara, Sonora, 20 miles southeast of here, yesterday, killing 15 Chinese, according to reports received today at the commandacia in Nogalez, Sonora. Fifty-five Indians made up the band, which recently rode rapidly north from the Hermosillo district, burning, killing and looting. Numbers of ranchers in the border zone made their way into the city, while Carranza troops from the garrison across the border pursued the outlaws.

23 More Fatal Paralysis Cases.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Twenty-three more deaths from infantile paralysis in this city occurred during the 48 hours ending at 10 a. m. today, according to a Health Department bulletin. This brings the total of fatalities up to 2123 since the inception of the epidemic. Today's bulletin recorded 66 new cases. The average of new cases for the two days covered in the report is smaller than the number mentioned in Saturday's bulletin covering Friday.

The Associated Press News Service is received and printed exclusively by the Post-Dispatch in the St. Louis evening field.

BATTLE OF MARNE FIELD REVISITED BY FRENCH VETERANS

Pilgrims See Relics and Many Graves at Celebration of Second Anniversary.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The second anniversary of the battle of the Marne, which has been celebrated at different points on the great battlefield since Sept. 6, culminated yesterday in a pilgrimage to the battlefield of the Ourcq, of the "Fighters of the Marne," the first organized body of veterans of this great war.

The veterans were escorted by mustered-out combatants of 1914 and veterans of the war of 1870. The great tomb at Neufmoutiers, marking the last resting place of 135 men; the plain between Chambray and Beroy, where 400 tricolored flags showed the spot where as many heroes fell; the monument at Chambray, raised to the memory of the soldiers of the army of Paris, and the cemetery at Ertrepilly, and Villeroy were decorated with flowers.

Denys Cochin, Minister of State, attended the ceremony at the cathedral in Meaux and Justin Godart, Undersecretary of War, visited the different cemeteries as the representative of the Government.

General and Son Maimed.

Gen. Michael Joseph Maunoury, who led the army of Paris victoriously against the German right wing under Von Kluck, in the great battle, spent the day at his home at Herbilly La Touraine, where delegations called. He is blind and is living in retirement with his son, Capt. Maunoury, who lost a leg in the war.

Visitors to the field report that only observant eyes could discover that this region was the scene of a far-stretching and historic battle two years ago. Nature has healed almost all the wounds inflicted by the fighting, except for trees with scarred trunks and dead branches, here and there traces of hastily dug shallow trenches along the main roads and the rusty tangled and twisted remains of barbed wire defenses at the outskirts of isolated villages and farms.

Hundreds, even thousands of graves are seen marked with tricolor or cross marked with inscriptions such as "In memory of the workmen of Paris," or "Here repose 43 French soldiers." The great majority of the graves, however, bear simply the names of the dead warriors, with the words "Killed Sept. 6, 1914."

Some of the Sights to Be Seen.

Among the sights are an unexploded shell wedged in the trunk of a torn and leafless tree; an iron chair, high up among the foliage, which was used by a sniper or an observer, and a series of large holes where heavy shells fell close together.

A point of interest is the farmhouse at Champ Fleury where Gen. von Kluck had his headquarters during the battle, and where a game of billiards was going on when a shell from a French 75-millimeter gun dropped on the roof and ended the game.

The famous Chateau Mondemont was one of the most important tactical positions in the battle and still stands, though more than half in ruins.

MAN DIES FROM BLOW ON HEAD

Nephew Who Struck Him With Scantling Arrested.

John Marks, a laborer, 37 years old, of 5813 Cote Brilliante avenue, died yesterday at the city hospital from a fractured skull. He and his nephew, Harry McGrath, 21 years old, quarreled over family affairs last Friday night, and McGrath struck Marks on the head with a scantling.

McGrath was arrested after the fight and released on bond. He said his uncle had struck him in the face and threatened to throw him from the porch. He was rearrested yesterday when the police were notified of Marks' death.

DR. WOODROW, IN SERMON, CRITICISES ADAMSON LAW

Pitiable Exhibition When President and Congress Were Frightened Into Blue Funk by Labor Demands, He Says.

The Rev. Dr. S. H. Woodrow, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, a fourth cousin of President Wilson, severely criticized the President and Congress for the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law in his sermon yesterday morning.

The method of averting the strike, Dr. Woodrow said, was "enough to cause alarm to every thoughtful citizen and believer in free government. Such a dangerous innovation pursued in the future for any length of time would cause government by the people and for the people to perish in the United States." The subject of the sermon was "A Menace to Free Government."

"No man, or group of men, should be able to dictate to the President and Congress of the United States," he said. "When it does we have mob rule instead of self-government. The most pitiable exhibition we have ever had was that of a President and Congress of the United States frightened into a blue funk by the demands of a very small portion of the citizenship."

Dr. Woodrow said he has been "a Progressive, a mugwump and a Republican. and never voted the Democratic ticket."

U. S. SCOUTS FAIL TO CONFIRM REPORTS OF VILLA'S ADVANCE

Penetrate Santa Clara Canyon in Search—Pershing Reports Natives Deny Seeing Bandit Chief.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 11.—Scouts of the American army in Mexico have penertated the Santa Clara canyon in search of Francisco Villa's marauding bands and have not found it there. This was the substance of a message received today by Gen. Funston from Gen. Pershing, who said he believed Villa was in the vicinity of San Andres, about 35 miles west of Chihuahua City.

Gen. Pershing did not say so, but it is believed here that the American scouts must have been supported by at least a small force, as the canyon is more than fifty miles south of El Valle and the southernmost American lines. It is not thought an insignificant patrol would have been taking a chance on encountering the Villa band without the assurance of adequate support. This is the first indication in many weeks that Gen. Pershing's men have been operating at any distance from their bases.

Gen. Pershing reported that in the section traversed the natives professed not to have seen or heard of Villa.

REPUBLICANS OPEN STATE CAMPAIGN AT SPRINGFIELD

Lamm, Dickey and Fairbanks Are Chief Attractions of Gathering.

By George W. Eads,

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 11.—Several thousand Republicans from the Ozark country gathered in Springfield today to attend the formal opening of the Republican State campaign. The party leaders here are quite enthusiastic over their prospects for carrying the State, and they are preparing to make the most thorough and vigorous campaign ever conducted in Missouri.

The principal attractions of the campaign opening were Henry Lamm of Sedalia, candidate for Governor, and Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City, candidate for United States Senator, who spoke in the Landers Theater this afternoon, and Charles W. Fairbanks, candidate for Vice President, who will speak either in the theater or Convention Hall tonight. All the other candidates on the State ticket, and the candidates for Congress from Southwest Missouri and many of the county candidates of the Ozark country are here.

Roy Britton, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor; George Hackmann, candidate for Auditor; James H. Mason, candidate for Secretary of State, were all on the program for 15-minute speeches, to follow Judge Lamm and Dickey. At the close of the afternoon meeting the candidates and visitors will be taken on an automobile tour of the city.

Fairbanks is scheduled to arrive in Springfield at 3:45 p. m. He will speak at 7:30 p. m. and will leave at 9:30 p. m. for Oklahoma and the southwest to make his first campaign tour. Fairbanks has toured Missouri many times and is popular among the party workers in this State, many of whom supported him at Chicago for the presidential nomination.

Dickey Pleads for Higher Tariff.

Dickey devoted his speech almost entirely to a plea for the repeal of the Underwood tariff law and the re-enactment of a Republican protective tariff. Dickey is a millionaire manufacturer of clay products. He declared that Germany, with the highest protective tariff of any country, had been the most successful country industrially in the world up to the outbreak of the war, and had become the chief competitor of the United States in the world markets.

"Let's repeal the Underwood tariff bill," he said, "restore confidence in our attitude toward business, enlarge and expand industry, double up profitable employment for both capital and labor and by the enactment of a protective tariff bill, passed by a Republican House and Senate and signed by Charles Evans Hughes, insure a return of prosperity and opportunity in America."

He referred to Mexico as another competitor of the United States in normal times.

"The high standard of living, the educational facilities, the food and clothing that we like to see enjoyed by the average American and his family cannot be maintained if he is kept in competition with the lower wages and the lower standard of living of Europe and of Asia," Dickey said. "Owning a manufacturing plant in the City of Mexico which in normal times employed 300 or 400 workmen, I have in recent years seen the wage scale in that country advanced from 30 cents silver to $1 silver.

"In industries other than my own the experience has been the same, and I protest that it is un-American and highly injurious to our citizens to compel them to compete with the labor of foreign countries. As an exporter of American manufactures, a bulky commodity at that, I have heretofore enjoyed sending goods to the City of Mexico in solid train loads from Henry County and Jackson County (Mo.) plants, and the same from our plants in Illinois to the Canadian Northwest, and I know whereof I speak in these matters.

Would Repeal Underwood Law.

"With the election in November of a Republican President, House and Senate the country will see an immediate reversal of the present tariff policy and the enactment of a new tariff law. This, with assurances of its continuation, will rekindle the fires of enterprise, reopen the manufacturing plants, furnish employment at full time for all who would work and creat profitable use of capital. Under these conditions the United States would enter upon another era of prosperity, expansion in trade at home and abroad which would bring us to a realization of our weakness in shipping upon the high seas, and I hope and believe would attract attention to that other great subject bearing upon industry, to the end that we might once more see American-built ships manned by American sailors, sailed by American officers, carrying American-made goods and flying the American flag in every part of the world."

The Republican State Committee met this morning at the Colonial Hotel to discuss plans for furthering the campaign. Judge Lamm, Dickey and the other candidates will begin their campaign tours of the State from Springfield, and will scatter in all directions in automobiles tomorrow. Judge Lamm goes from here to Polk and Hickory counties and will spend two days in an automobile, makng speeches at every village in the counties. Dickey also will tour the Ozarks in an automobile.

ATHENS IS VIRTUALLY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Troops Parade Streets and Guard Entente Legations—Reservists' League Dissolved.

ATHENS, Sunday, Sept. 10.—Athens is virtually under martial law. Patrols of infantry and cavalry parade the streets and the entente legations are under strong guards. Fifteen hundred marines have been added to the garrison here on account of the uncertainty in regard to the attitude of the troops. The excitement caused by army disaffection at Saloniki, however, is dying out.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—An Associated Press dispatch today from Athens says that as a result of the firing of shots Saturday at the French legation during a conference of the entente ministers King Constantine has personally accepted the demand of the allies that the Reservists' League, of which he is honorary president, be dissolved. The shots were fired by unidentified persons. French marines from the fleet have been landed at Athens and established a guard at the legation. The Greek officer in charge of the guard at the legation Saturday evening will be court-martialed.

A Reuter dispatch from Athens says that after the shooting, Premier Zaimis immediately expressed his regret to M. Guillemin, the French Minister, who accepted the Premier's assurances. The entente ministers visited Premier Zaimis and informed him of the conditions on which the incident woud be considered closed. They were, frst, the punishment of those responsible; second, proceeding against the officials who failed to repress the incident; third, the immediate closing of all clubs of reservists' leagues in Athens and the provinces. Premier Zaimis replied that he would issue orders to that effect immediately.

The Havas correspondent's version of the shooting says that while the entente Ministers were meeting at the legation a number of reservists forced an entrance, shouting "long live the King. Down with the entente." Four shots were fired. No one was injured. The reservists fled.

The Greek Premier is said to have sounded the diplomatic representatives regarding the feeling of their Governments in the event of Greece's departure from neutrality.

The Ministers replied that they welcomed proposals from the Greek Government, which they would submit to their own Governments.

DISCHARGE OF ST. LOUIS BOY FROM BRITISH ARMY ASKED FOR

Advices from Washington today said Representative William L. Igoe appealed to Secretary of State Lansing this morning, asking that the State Department demand that Great Britain discharge from its army Lester L. Housam, a 17-year-old boy, son of Clem Housam of 2322 Wash street.

Young Housam formerly was employed in a St. Louis wholesale house. He went to Canada on what his parents thought was a vacation trip and there enlisted in the British army. He is now stationed at Windsor, Ontario.

Under this Government's treaty with Great Britain it is agreed that a minor son of an American citizen must be released from British service unless his parents agree to permit him to stay in the army. Housam's father says he is unwilling that his son shall serve.

SHACKLETON'S MEN READY TO SAIL FOR ENGLAND THIS WEEK

Sir Ernest and Wild Give Further Details of Life on Elephant Island.

VALUABLE PHOTOS SAVED

All Data of South Pole Expedition That Nearly Proved to Be Disastrous Also Preserved.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

(Copyright, 1916, by Press Pub. Co.)

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile, Sept. 9, via London, Sept. 11.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, with all the survivors of the crew of the Endurance, will depart from here some time next week for England, by way of Buenos Aires. The time of their start is conditional upon Sir Ernest's return from Santiago, whither he is going, with Frank Wild, to thank the President of Chile for the assistance which his Government gave in the rescue of the party on Elephant Island.

The entire party will probably arrive in England about the end of October. Congratulatory cablegrams have been showering upon them from all parts of the world. All the men of the Elephant Island party are recovering rapidly from the effects of their privations.

Sir Ernest himself and Wild, in an interview today, gave an account of the rescue of the marooned men and of their life on Elephant Island.

The island was as inhospitable as it well could be. It has precipitious cliffs more than 2000 feet in height, against which dashed tempestuous seas. It was constantly enveloped in fog.

When the small boat left the island on April 24 with Shackleton and the five men who set out for South Georgia, Wild and the others of the party were soaked to the skin, and a fortnight elapsed before their semi-frozen clothes could be dried, for the stock of dried blubber and penguin skins which they accumulated had to be reserved for fuel for cooking.

Three Weeks of Suffering.

For the first three weeks several of the party suffered from frostbite and were ill from exposure. All, however, slowly recovered. The ice hole in which shelter was taken on the island soon became uninhabitable, owing to the snow.

Wild, realizing that existence would be impossible under the conditions which had set in, turned the two remaining boats upside down, supported on rocks, to form a roof, and fixed the spare canvas at the sides to make walls. The chronometer cases served for windows.

Upper bunks for half the party were provided by the thwarts, the remainder having to be content with beds made from pebbles collected from the beach. For light they had nothing better than a blubber lamp, while a cooking stove was extemporbized out of an old oil tin.

When Shackleton departed there were rations for six weeks, but, realizing that rescue might be delayed long beyond that period, Wild determined to exercise the most stringent economy. He decided to husband his prepared rations, which were in form of a staple substance. The stock of tea and cocoa having been exhausted months before, this was the only hot beverage they possessed, and was issued once a day. Twice weekly the food was given out to each man without water. It was necessary to utilize every scrap of seal, as, owing to the formation of the ice foot on the beach, seals were unable to land. Life on the island was one monotonous round of storms and fogs, the only variation being found in the dangers arising from the breaking ice and driving seas.

Had to Smoke Grass.

Breakfast consisted generally of penguin fried in blubber, with a drink of water. At 1 o'clock lunch on biscuits with raw blubber was served. At 5 o'clock, when darkness fell, all were ready for dinner, the menu consisting of penguin breast, with a sustaining hot drink made from one prepared ration. Lacking tobacco, the men smoked grass taken from the padding of their boots, while pipes were carved from bones and wood.

The members of the party took turns at reading aloud from the only surviving books of the little library which had been rescued from the Endurance; the Bible, the encyclopedia, Browning, Carlyle's French Revolution and Bacon's Essays; the books being read in turn. On Saturday the evening was marked by a concert, the feature of which was banjo playing by Hussey. This was the only musical instrument the marooned men possessed, Shackleton took it off the Endurance just before she was abandoned "as a mental tonic."

On one occasion there was an unexpected addition to the bill of fare. Some undigested fish were found in the stomach of a seal and greatly enjoyed. This was the only fish that was obtainable, for it was impossible to put out any lines. At the beginning of August they obtained a welcome change of diet. The ice began to melt and the rocks were exposed. Limpets were gathered in large numbers and a great deal of sea weed became available which made a valuable vegetable addition to the menu.

Had to Bail Out Hut.

During the latter part of their stay, owing to their comparatively high temperature the interior of the improvised hut was constantly flooded and an average of 70 gallons of water had to be bailed out of it every night. Blizzards were a frequent occurrence during the winter and sometimes the party had to keep cover for days together in the most crowded and uncomfortable conditions.

Hope of eventual rescue was never abandoned, and their good spirits were a great factor in maintaining their health. After the formation of the ice-foot the danger of disaster from the seas swept up by the blizzards was averted, but great masses of glacier kept breaking away and created waves which sometimes almost reached the boat hut.

By mid-winter practically all the frost bite cases were recovered except those of Blackboro and Hudson, when the doctor decided to operate on Blackboro. Blubber fires were lighted in the hut so as to raise the temperature as high as possible, and then by the light of the blubber lamps, Blackboro's toes were removed successfully.

In July Wild decided that, failing of relief by the end of October he would try to make Deception Island in the remaining small boat, where whalers are generally to be found in summer.

Two Sight the Ship.

On Aug. 20 (previous dispatches from Sir Ernest had put this date at Aug. 30, probably due to defective cable transmission) most of the party were just sitting down to a seal and limpet lunch when there were shouts from Hurley and Marston, who were outside the hut, that a ship was in sight.

All hands rushed out, and through the lifting fog, amongst great grounded bergs, they saw the little vessel. She was apparently steaming past the camp and Wild started making smoke signals to attract attention. Within five minutes the suspense was over and the Yelcho was seen swinging around directly for the spot where the party was clustered.

A boat was dropped and rowed toward the shore. Three ringing cheers greeted its approach and as soon as Shackleton, who was in the boat, was within hail, a chorus, "All well," reached his ears, and must have gladdened his heart.

Navigation was difficult amid the rocks, but one by one, as the chance offered, the men were taken off. By 2 o'clock all were embarked and the Yelcho's head turned for home.

Thought War Was Over.

"When was the war over?" was the first question Wild and his comrades put to the rescuers. They had heard nothing of the outside world since October, 1914, when the Endurance left Buenos Ayres.

All the scientific records of the expedition have been saved, as well as the photographic plates and films. Hurley, the photographer, has already developed his plates and films and the result is a complete pictorial record of every important incident from the start of the expedition through all its vicissitudes to the arrival of the Yelcho at Punta Arenas.

Included in the record are 5000 feet of perfect film showing the Endurance battling with berg and floe, the wonderful migration of the seals while the ship was frozen in the pack, and the training of dogs and sledging. There are moving pictures, too, of the Endurance when she was crushed in the ice, with final phase of the masts going overboard. The organization of the camp for the march, with boats and dog teams, is also depicted. In addition there are wonderful color plates in direct color photography.

NEURALGIC PAINS

Shooting pains in the head with giddiness, noise in the ears and tenderness of the scalp—pains in the neck and shoulders or extending down the arms to the hands, these are the most common symptoms of neuralgia.

There are a number of causes of neuralgia. It is most common in families whose members have nervous dispositions and it is very often a result of anemia or lack of blood.

Hot applications give temporary relief in neuralgia and should be used. They cannot cure the trouble because the pain is the complaint that the under nourished nerve is making and it will not be quieted until the nerve is fed. The only way to reach the nerves with nourishment is through the blood. That is why thin blood so frequently leads to neuralgia. When the blood becomes thin the nerves lack nourishment. Build up the blood, supply to it the elements that the nerves need and you begin to correct the neuralgia.

The free booklet "Diseases of the Nervous System" will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.—ADV.

WAR WILL END IN YEAR, BRUSSILOFF THINKS

Russian Commander Says Rumania's Intervention Is Military Event of First Order.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1916, by Press Pub. Co.)

HEADQUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY, Sept. 9, via London, Sept. 10.—Gen. Brussiloff, Russia's famous leader, in an interview today declared that the intervention of Rumania was a military event of the first order, and paid a warm tribute to the quality of the Rumanian army. He predicted the close of the war next August.

"My left flank," said the General, "resting on the Rumanian army, is now undoubtedly secure. To my mind the Austro-Hungarian empire, assailed from all sides, won't be able to stand much longer before the horde of enemies who are hurling themselves against her, and only preparing to increase the vigor of their blows. The hostile army I had in front of me in June and July is almost entirely exterminated or captured, but it has been speedily replaced by a conglomerate army, in which are to be found enemies of every origin. In that army, much more numerous just now than the one which stood in front of me in June, is the supreme guard, the last living rampart of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. That army resists desperately on strong mountain positions, which must be carried one after the other, by storm. Nevertheless, we are advancing and the spirit of our army remains very bright and very high. Soon the cooperation of the brave Rumanian army will facilitate for us obtaining definite results.

"I follow with greatest attention the admirable efforts carried into effect on the western front by the Anglo-French armies. I understand the enormous obstacles that have to be overthrown, but I am nevertheless convinced their efforts will result in a rupture of the German front. It is to me absolutely a certainty.

"The offensive assumed by the Franco-British armies helps us here, in that it prevents the Germans sending against us too heavy reinforcements. They are all the time drawing a certain amount of troops from the west and sending them against us, but not to such an extent that they can have a determining influence. They may simply delay our moving forward, that is all.

"It is impossible for us to lose, and although a vast deal remains to be accomplished, a successful result already is in our hands. The game is already won—I said so two years ago and I have not changed my mind.

"We must consider the present war as being, from the allies' point of view, comparable to a lottery in which every number has to win, only we must go on till the end and not have the weakness to think about premature peace.

"I am no prophet, the future is in the hands of God, but if I had to absolutely make an hypothesis I should be inclined to think August, 1917, might see the end of our memorable work."

COUNTY ROAD BOND FIGHT IS RENEWED IN INJUNCTION SUIT

T. K. Skinker and Virginia Resident Begin Federal Court Action to Prevent Issuance.

Suit for an injunction, to prevent the issuance of the first $520,000 of the $3,000,000 bond issue for St. Louis County roads was filed in the United States District Court this afternoon by L. Cass Miller of Virginia and Thomas K. Skinker of Clayton. Skinker, Albert Chandler and A. V. Lashly appeared as attorneys in the case. The members of the County Court are named as defendants.

The petition sets forth that there are 11 incorporated towns in the county, and it holds that, under the law as interpreted by the State Supreme Court, money raised by a county bond issue cannot lawfully be spent on highway improvement within incorporated towns. As the residents of the towns are taxed for the interest on the county bonds, it is held that provisions of the United States Constitution forbidding confiscation and assuring the equal protection of the law to all would be violated by the issuance of the bonds.

It is stated in the petition that a "deputy Attorney-General" rendered an opinion that the proceeds of a county bond issue could legally be spent on town highways. Many voters in the towns, it is stated, voted for the bond issue last February in the belief that this was true. But since that time, the petition states, the Supreme Court has held otherwise.

Skinker has been an opponent of the bond issue proposal from the outset. Miller, the petition states, is an owner of property in Webster Groves.

U. S. INQUIRY INTO BOMBARDMENT

Consul Building Hit by French Fleet at Alexandretta, Turkey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Inquiry will be made of the French Government regarding the bombardment Sept. 7 by a French fleet of Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, during which the building occupied by William M. Brewster of New York, American consular agent, was riddled.

Officials said today that the State Department would ask whether the shelling of the building was a result of carelessness.

Allies to Pass Medical Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—American Consul Garrels at Alexandria, Egypt, cabled the State Department today that permission had been granted for passage through the allied blockade of medical supplies shipped by New York Jewish societies on the cruiser Des Moines, for relief of sufferers in Jerusalem. The Des Moines, now coaling at Barcelona, Spain, will sail shortly for Jaffa.

BURLESON ANSWERS SHERMAN'S CONVICT LABOR ACCUSATIONS

Letter Declares State Leased Ranch He Was Interested in and Operated It.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Postmaster-General Burleson has made public a letter he had written to Senator Sherman of Illinois, calling on him to correct "vilely false impressions" left by a statement made by the Senator in the Senate last week. Senator Sherman read from a Texas newspaper of 1909 to show that Burleson then was part owner of a Texas ranch on which convicts were employed, and declared that the foreman of the ranch, after being acquitted of the charge of causing the death of a negro convict, was appointed postmaster at Longview.

Burleson's letter says that he was part owner of a plantation leased and operated by the State; that the foreman referred to was the plantation superintendent employed by the State who was acquitted of a charge believed to have been made for political purposes and who was appointed postmaster with the acquiescence of the Congressman from his district.

HAGERMAN GETS MANDAMUS

Supreme Court to Decide Whether Circuit Clerk Vacancy Exists.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 11.—The Supreme Court today granted a writ of mandamus, returnable in 10 days, calling upon the St. Louis Election Commissioners to show cause why they should not be prevented from printing the name of Nat Goldstein on the Republican ballot as a candidate for Circuit Clerk of St. Louis.

The writ was granted to attorneys for James Hagerman Jr., the present Clerk. Hagerman contends that there is no vacancy in the office to be filled, and between the time of the death of Charles R. Graves, June 11, and his own appointment there was not enough time under the law to file as candidate for the primary election. The tenure of office is four years and Graves' term would not have expired until January, 1919.

DOCTORS FORM NEW NATIONAL SOCIETY

Those Who Favor "Fee Splitting" Organize—Three Officers St. Louisans.

Physicians who uphold "fee splitting"—a practice condemned by the American Medical Association—have formed the Medical Society of the United States. The formation of this society is announced in the September issue of the Journal of the Missouri State Medical Association, under the heading "Fee Splitters Organize."

In an article strongly censuring the purposes of the new society, the Journal prints the names of the officers of the organiaztion, and a copy of a letter sent out to physicians urging them to become members.

The three principal officers are St. Louis physicians. Dr. A. H. Ohmann-Dumesnil is president, Dr. George Howard Thompson secretary, and Dr. Emory Lanphear treasurer. The letter quoted by the Journal contains these paragraphs:

"Naturally, men are either conservative or progressive—there are always two parties in almost everything. The American Medical Association represents the conservatives; heretofore the progressives have had no great national organization.

"We—the majority of the medical profession—who believe in division of fees (i. e., that the surgeon should not "hog" the whole of a patient's money and leave nothing for the family doctor), are no longer welcome in the A. M. A. We are therefore organizing the Medical Society of the United States, which will not be conducted for the benefit of a few selfish egotists. We would like to have you with us."

The letter is signed by Dr. Lanphear, who complained, a year and a half ago, that the St. Louis Medical Society was hindering his practice and was causing a certain hospital to refuse to receive his patients. Last spring the St. Louis Medical Society expelled a member on a fee-splitting charge.

MAN ESCAPING FROM POLICEMEN IS FOUND LATER WOUNDED

Several Shots Fired by His Pursuers and Bullet Is Found in His Hip.

Harry Harwood, 26 years old, after his arrest last night at the Strand Hotel, 2800 Locust street, on suspicion of being connected with the theft of automobiles, broke away from policemen while being taken from the patrol auto in front of the Laclede Avenue Station. Two patrolmen pursued him to Lawton street and then east. They fired several shots but he disappeared in a yard.

Half an hour later he was found on a pile of rubbish at Ewing avenue and Pine street. He had a bullet wound in his left hip. He was removed to the city hospital.

Harwood's wife, Mrs. Alice Harwood, who gave her address as 5810 Delmar boulevard, who was arrested with him at the hotel, is held as a witness. An iron bar and a screwdriver wrapped in paper were found in the room occupied by the couple at the Strand.

Head of Commission Says Extra Expense Was Incurred in Meeting Demands.

Forwarding to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund the bill for milk passed through its laboratory during August, amounting to $512.50, Secretary H. E. Mortland of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission writes:

"It gives me pleasure to be able to state that, although the milk situation is very much disturbed in the city for the past several weeks, we were able to take care of every applicant, regardless of where situated in the city. While this entailed a great outlay of extra work and additional expense, the results have more than compensated for this extra expenditure. I wish to thank the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund for its generous assistance, which has enabled us to more efficiently carry on our work."

The free ice bill for August was even heavier than that for pure milk, so that the drain upon the Fund has well nigh exhausted the amount raised to date, while the infants in the homes of the very poor must have the milk and ice for several weeks to come if they are to have a fair chance to retain until cold weather arrives the health that has been maintained through those agencies. The pure milk is, indeed, a necessity in many cases throughout the year, and must be paid for.

One of the banner events of the current campaign, in the excellence of the entertainment, breadth of interest and addition to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, was the affair given on the lawn of the home of Mrs. A. Pepper, 4638 Bell avenue. It combined the delight of a genuinely high-class entertainment program and a carnival, from which the girls and boys were enabled to take an exalted place on the roll of honor through a contribution of $34.22 to the fund, as well as an enduring hold upon the affections of the people of that neighborhood because of an evening of rare pleasure.

The main number on the program was a two-act sketch of marked merit, "The Magic Sword," in which the young people gave evidence of a mature intelligence and richly-budding histrionic talent. The characters in the play were strikingly sustained, as follows:

Jumping Jack ....Dora Schwartz
Toy Captain ....Harry Levin
Soldiers—
  Adolph Pepper, Pearl Klein, Lilly Levin and Jeannette Cull.
The New Doll.........Melba Colbird
Fairy Prince........Nellie Longworth
The Old Doll ....Anna Cohn
First Old Doll........Elizabeth Moore
Second Old Doll.......Dorothy Levin

The play was supplemented by this well-ordered and fascinatingly presented program of miscellaneous numbers:

Song, Mother—
  Anna Cohn, Nellie Longworth, Dorothy Levin, Dora Schwartz, Elizabeth Moore, Melba Colbird, Jeannette Cull.
Song, Sweet Cider—
  Nellie Longworth, Dorothy Levin, Elizabeth Moore, Anna Cohn, Dora Schwartz, Melba Colbird.
Little Johnny Rankin—
  Nellie Longworth, Dora Schwartz, Dorothy Levin, Anna Cohn.
Jingle Stars ....A. Pepper
Jack and Jill ....Pearl Klein
Memories ....Jeannette Cull
America, I Love You—
  Anna Cohn and Nellie Longworth
I Never Raised My Boy to Be a Soldier ....Melba Colbird
Songs, Uncle Sammy and Star Spangled Banner......Entire company

An evidence of the widespread and keen interest taken in the affair by the residents in that neighborhood is found in the fact that many of them came together on the afternoon preceding the affair in the evening and constructed and decorated the stage from which they were subsequently so vastly entertained by the children. In the same connection it may be stated that numerous donations were made of articles for the sale that followed the program. These included a gallon of ice cream by the National Ice Cream Co., ice cream cones Grocery Co., two cases of soda water by Mrs. A. Pepper and a chocolate cake by and straws by Meyer Bros. Drug Co., three watermelons by the Kraelman Mrs. I. Klein, the latter realizing $2.50 in the sale.

After the entertainment the children were complimented with a reception at the home of Mrs. J. Levin, who was assisted by Mrs. I. Klein, where refreshments were served.

In the competition among the children for leadership in selling tickets in advance, Dorothy and Harry Levin were winners.

Children in the entertainment and afterwards in the conduct of the carnival are: Nellie Longworth, 4645A Bell avenue; Dora Schwartz, 4643 Bell; Anna Cohn, 4707 Delmar boulevard; Dorothy and Harry Levin, 4636 Bell; Melba Colbird, 4645 Bell; Elizabeth Moore, 4635 Bell; Pearl Klein, 4634 Bell. Adolph Pepper, 4638 Bell; Jeannette Cull, [illegible] Bell; Lilly Levin, 4636 Bell.

"Jottings" Through the Store

Charming is just the word to describe the over-skirted taffeta dance frocks on the Third Floor. They look luminous, and you cannot understand why until you discover they are changeable delicate colors, pink and lavender, corn and white, green, peach. The bodices are mere apologies of silk points, metal lace and wisps of colored tulle, held to the outstanding skirt by French roses. It must not dim your interest to know that they are only $24.00, for they look like twice that much.

* * * * *

Berthes are used on any one-piece frock, make them more becoming and dressy. $3.00 to $5.00 ones of Princess appliqued lace are $1.59.

* * * * *

The Ribbon Department makes up cockades for hat trimmings at 50c each—exclusive, of course, of the ribbon.

* * * * *

Do you plan to make a lace-beflounced party frock or a filmy separate blouse? If so, the broad edges with deep scallops and lovely designs done on open filet mesh net are quite the thing. You will not believe they are on sale at 15c a yard unless you see them on the first floor.

* * * * *

Near are the departments where just the proper combining fabrics may be found—nets, chiffons, Georgette and the like.

* * * * *

Are you among those victims of the Fall moving fever?—then look on the Fourth Floor at the new chintzes and cretonnes, they will bring new charm to furnishings you perhaps yearn vainly to replace this year.

* * * * *

Even if you don't need any bath towels for strictly bathing purposes, the 39c kinds at 25c when decorated with a crochet edge make charming Christmas gifts—a pair is more proper than one.

* * * * *

Indian bead work and zephyr embroideries are on some of the Serge Dresses, but they are not so dressy as the well cut day-time frocks of satin combined with semi-transparent fabrics.

* * * * *

We will never believe that dyes are scarce when we see the 50c and 65c men's Neckties which are absolutely new at 35c or three for $1.00.

More "Jottings"

A chilly night or two turns our thoughts to Blankets. There are so many worthwhile jottings in this section one could not be selected but you can save enough on any of the Anniversary items in the Bedding Department to pay for several of the remarkably priced undergarments in the Muslin Underwear Section.

* * * * *

Imported and hand-blocked Shapes—generally of velvet, will appeal to the women fortunate enough to possess the true milliner's knack, for she can set at just the right angle those ready-to-put-on French hat decorations which are to be found at appropriately near the untrimmed hat section on the Third Floor.

* * * * *

The voluminous fur coats are in nearly every possible combination of the skins of long and short haired animals.

* * * * *

Inlaid Mahogany Lamps have hand painted panels in lovely wood tones, set in bronze framed shades and are nearly all prices between $17.00 and $35.00 in the House Furnishing Store—Fifth Floor.

* * * * *

Birds are seldom, these latter days, in gilded cages. The new kinds are beautiful and exalted descendants of those we have seen in drawings hanging beneath the thatches of old English peasant huts. These are not so much for the glory of the bird as charming decorations for the apartments they occupy.

* * * * *

The influence of the "Heathen Chinee" has invaded interior decorations. The furniture reflecting this influence is peculiarly attractive, and adaptations of old Chinese rugs found in America floor coverings are true to the originals and surprisingly harmonious with even the most occidental surroundings.

* * * * *

The French Tricorne and Berette are everywhere in Paris and seem to have emigrated in droves to capture American women. They are so varied in their adaptations as to guarantee exclusiveness and a becoming model for every face.

* * * * *

The Redingote has always been the garment for "The Lady of Quality" which perhaps accounts for its appearing in only the highest grade and most expensive suits and coats on our Third Floor.

JAPAN'S DEMANDS ON CHINA CONTAIN SECRET CLAUSES

Right to Supply Military Advisers and Instructors Is Asked For.

By Associated Press.

PEKIN, Sept. 7.—In addition to demanding police power in South Manchuria and inner Mongolia as one of the terms of the settlement of the incident at Cheng-Chiatun, in Eastern Mongolia, Japan, it was learned in Government circles here today, also has secretly suggested to China that the employment of Japanese military advisers at the large Chinese centers and of Japanese instructors in the Chinese military schools would be highly desirable.

The Chinese press says the granting of the Japanese demands would mean the abandonment of Chinese sovereignty in Inner Mongolia and in Southern Manchuria.

Ex-Premier Tang Shao-Yi, who is to become Minister of Foreign Affairs, is expected to reach the capital next week. China's reply to the Japanese demands probably will be postponed for his consideration.

China's dependency upon Japan for money, it is maintained in semi-official quarters, renders her unable to ignore either the Japanese demands or suggestions unless financial assistance is found elsewhere.

Wang Hung-Nien, the Chinese Commissioner who was sent to investigate the incident at Cheng Chiatun in which several Japanese and Chinese soldiers were killed in a clash between troops of the two garrisons, returned to Pekin and reported that the trouble began through a street fight between a Japanese civilian and a Chinese soldier. Japanese soldiers attempted to force their way into the Chinese barracks to arrest the soldier, whereupon firing began.

RETALIATORY LAW, NOTICE TO ALLIES TO CURB TRADE WAR

Senator Simmons Says It Arms U. S. With Weapon to Protect Merchants' Rights.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Had Lloyd-George's speech not been censored radically different retaliatory legislation would have been adopted.

The retaliatory provisions were placed in the emergency revenue bill by Congress because of a firm conviction, based on information in possession of the administration, that Great Britain and her allies, under the guise of striking at Germany, are gradually tightening the restrictions thrown about United States trade with other neutral countries.

Leaders in the Senate and House had been fully advised of information in possession of the Government before the drastic step was taken. In addition to this, Senators and Representatives generally had received numerous personal letters from American citizens and firms that are feeling the strength of the grip which the allies are endeavoring to put on the commerce of the world.

The action of Congress in arming President Wilson with virtually unlimited authority to protect American rights, even to the use of the armed forces of the nation, was the result of just such instances of the application of the British blacklist to American itizens as were detailed in the Post-Dispatch yesterday morning.

Senator Explains Law.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the Finance Committee, who managed the revenue bill on the floor of the Senate, gave the following explanation of what was in the mind of Congress when this legislation was passed:

"The retaliatory provisions of the revenue bill passed by Congress last week are notice to the world that no foreign nations are hereafter to be permitted to interfere with our international trade rights with impunity and that the Government of the United States is to be armed with such weapons as may be necessary to protect our rights in this regard."

On numerous occasions Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, has made reassuring statements to the world regarding the purpose of the blacklist. Without exception, they have insisted that Great Britain has not the remotest intention of injuring American trade. His latest statement went so far as to say that such a policy toward the United States would be insane, in view of the enormous volume of commerce between the United States and Great Britain and her possessions.

But while Lord Robert Cecil ond other high officials of the British Government from time to time issue statements couched in reassuring language, the pressure upon American trade continues to tighten all along the line. American firms have been brought to the verge of financial ruin and some of them pushed over the brink.

Felt in Wisconsin.

While every branch of business life in New York and other big export centers has felt the blighting effects of the ever-tightening British blacklist, which now has been made the allied blacklist through its adoption by France and Russia, they are by no means confined to large centers. A Wisconsin manufacturer, who has been for years exporting a large volume of his product to a Scandinavian country, has been unable to get his goods to destination since shortly after the outbreak of the war. In his case the allies did not wait for the British blacklist, but put the screws on within 60 days. His business is virtually ruined, and he is in receipt of information which convinces him that a British firm is now supplying goods on the contract he holds, which antedates the war by a considerable period.

Administration officials and leaders in Congress felt that unless measures were taken to call a halt on these trade encroachments they would grow more and more pronounced. Evidence has multiplied that the great war is primarily a warfare to control the commerce of the world in the future.

The reign of terror under which many American firms now exist because of the ruthless exactions of the blacklist, in the opinion of officials, furnishes almost conclusive evidence that the blacklist was not even intended primarily as a war measure, but merely as a club by which the allies hope to insure their commercial supremacy after the war, with Great Britain the aggressor at every turn.

Phelan Amendment Dropped.

Senator Phelan of California and many other Senators and Representatives are fully convinced that if Congress had known Friday that David Lloyd George, the British Minister of War, had formally admitted on the floor of Parliament that legitimate information regarding neutral trade secured through the British mail censorship is being used to further the interests of British and allied interest the Phelan amendment would still be a part of the revenue bill. The Phelan amendment was intended to place an additional weapon in the President's hands intended primarily to be used in retaliation for the unlawful seizure of American mails. It empowered the President to deny the facilities of the mails, cables, telegraphs, wireless and express companies to citizens of offending nations. It appeared to be more far reaching than the circumstances required and for that reason was eliminated.

STABBED IN FIGHT OVER CARDS

Partners in Penuchle Game Quarrel Over Bid.

The regular Sunday auction penuchle game at the Eisenberger Club, 815 Salisbury street, broke up in a fight last night, when Louis Eberhard, 1412 Salisbury, and Joseph Strini, 1409 Salisbury, partners in a game with two other members of the club, insisted on outbidding each other for the privilege of naming trumps.

Eberhard finally yielded. The partners lost. Eberhard contended that if he had been allowed to name trumps he could have won. Blows were struck. Eberhard drew a knife and stabbed Strini three times in the chest. Strini was taken to the city hospital. Eberhard fled.

Rabbi Abramowitz Returns.

The German Government notified the committee that it would be denied admission to that country.

LAMM PROMISES TO ENFORCE ALL LAWS IF ELECTED

Republican Candidate Delivers Keynote Speech at Opening of Campaign in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 11.—An unequivocal declaration for the fearless and impartial enforcement of all the laws of the State was made by former Supreme Judge Henry Lamm of Sedalia, Republican candidate for Governor, in his keynote speech delivered at the Republican campaign opening here today.

As Judge Lamm was strongly supported in his primary election campaign by the element of the Republican party which believes in a very liberal interpretation of the laws with respect to the liquor traffic, his declaration today was regarded as a warning that there would be no lidlifting if he should be elected Governor. With the exception of his declaration for law enforcement, Judge Lamm did not outline any program or policy he would pursue as Governor, but devoted his speech wholly to a caustic arraignment of the present Democratic State administration, and to a severely critical analysis of the Gardner land bank bill, of which Frederick D. Gardner, Democratic candidate for Governor, is the author. Gardner is believed to have won his nomination primarily upon the popularity of his land bank measure, and the people will vote at the November election on a constitutional amendment authorizing the establishment of the bank.

Lamm on Law Enforcement.

In the peroration of his speech, Judge Lamm said on the subject of law enforcement:

"I shall mention my own candidacy only far enough to warn every voter who wants a wide-open revel of lawlessness and vice anywhere in the State that he will make a great mistake from his point of view if he votes for my election. My whole life has been spent in inculcating the doctrine that the safety of our people is in their obedience to law.

"With my whole heart I believe in law enforcement—not capriciously or with the harshness of a tyrant or a sneer of contempt or a snivel of hypocrisy, but an even, consistent, clean, manly fairness and impartial enforcement. The law is not a whimsical tyrant actuated by revenge—today one thing and tomorrow another thing. It is a kindly, nursing father and can be administered so as to win the respect of every right thinking man."

The discussion of national issues was left entirely to others by Judge Lamm. He opened the discussion of State affairs with the statement that the press and the great majority of the people admit that there is something wrong in Missouri and that a change is necessary, and that the pride and sensibilities of this great State have been wounded by the events and tendencies of the present administration. This proposition is admitted on all hands, he said, except in the Democratic State platform, which "heartily approved and unreservedly indorsed the wise, efficient and capable administration of Gov. Elliott W. Major." Judge Lamm said that for all he knew this plank indorsing the State administration may have been dictated by his distinguished opponent.

Refers to Gardner Interview.

"And yet," he added, "the ink was hardly dry on the paper bearing the plank till my same distinguished opponent (Fred D. Gardner) gave forth a public and inspired interview which he took care should be published simultaneously with that same plank to the effect that he would take the police of our great cities out of politics; that he would take its great charitable and business and educational institutions out of politics and run them on the merit system, and that he would stop the leaks, and would not use the vast power of his office, if elected, to further any personal ambition of his own to run for another office."

Judge Lamm was referring to the interview with Gardner published in the Post-Dispatch Aug. 27, which is being used by the Democratic State Committee as one of its principal campagn documents. An interview with Judge Lamm, published in the Post-Dispatch Aug. 6, in which he outlined the policies he would pursue if he should be elected Governor, is also being prepared as a campaign document. These two interviews setting forth the views of the candidates with respect to public issues were the first comprehensive declarations of each gubernatorial candidate, and gave the candidates themselves their first information relative to the policies of each other.

"It is certainly true," Judge Lamm continued, "that my opponent made his personal, his supplemental, his explanatory and antagonistic plank because he knew the people knew that the official plank in the official Democratic platform was—what shall I say to be gentle and yet to be sensible and sincere?—was inadequate and incorrect, and did not state the monumental fact, the conceded fact, that something is radically wrong with the State we love."

Judge Lamm asked why Gardner should promise to take the police out of politics if they are not now in politics; why he should promise to take the charitable, business and educational institutions out of politics and run them on the merit basis if they are not now in politics and are not run on the merit system, and why he should promise to stop the leaks, if there are not now leaks.

He Makes Some Charges.

"The interview of my friend will be recurred to later," Judge Lamm said, "but for the present it is left with the suggestion that his interview and the plank read from the Democratic platform should be framed and hung on every office and hall wall as evidence of how not to state a fact, as a shining example of a false proposition and how to explode it at the selfsame stroke."

Judge Lamm then leveled these charges at the Democratic State administration, arguing that they demonstrated that Missouri needs a change in its administration and executive affairs.

"That the funds of our State, a State jealous of its financial honor, have been disarranged.

"That there has been a waste of public money, and our taxes have been extravagantly frittered away. (These are some of the leaks referred to by my opponent.)

"That there have been loose and reckless appropriations, beyond our ability to pay. (These are some more of the leaks.)

"That public money was profligately squandered on unnecessary expenses of legislation. (These are some more of the leaks.)

"That great deficiency bills are coming and cannot be prevented by any belated stroke of executive power.

"That the overhead cost of some of our activities are out of all proportion to results obtained. (These are some more of the same leaks.)

"That it was a pity, in order to make ends meet, it was thought necessary to take over $300,000 of the money belonging to our school children and divert it to other purposes—an attempt contrary to usage and only prevented by the strong hand of the law. (This raid on the money of the children will be recurred to more than once before this address is finished.)

"A majority of the people have looked with regret on the fact that the penitentiary has not divorced from partisan politics, and that its chief officer was at one and the same time the chief captain, the head, of his political party. (Right at this

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds, so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—MRS. J. S. BARLOW, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely.

It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A SENSATIONAL SUIT EVENT

That's What We Announce for Tuesday—the First Day of Our Style Week Exhibit and Fashion Show

Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 12 and 13, are the days set aside for our formal Style Exhibit and Fashion Show in all its splendor, with stage settings, fashion tableaux, character poses and style promenades. This will take place from 11 to 1 and 2 to 4 on Fourth Floor. Music, 500 seats, cooling electric fans. Everybody is invited.

And Now, About This Suit Sale

As we have told you, in previous announcements, we have prepared and provided a special, very much out-of-the-ordinary offering for each day. We entered into arrangements and co-operation with several of the leading garment makers, by which we could place before our customers an unusual value—an offering which would mean a saving of several dollars on the purchase. How well we succeeded with the Suit makers Tuesday's Special Sale will show.

$16.50, $18.00, $20.00 and $22.50 Suits for

The 8 Suits Above Were Sketched, as They Were Removed From Their Original Cases.

If this manufacturer hadn't had 500 Suits that he wanted to move quickly—

And if he hadn't been particularly anxious to get his popular-priced lines in our store in time for the style week throngs to get a peep at them—

And if we hadn't been on the ground at the right moment—

And if the Suits hadn't appealed to us so forcefully—

Well—500 women in some other city would have had the good fortune of getting a new Fall Suit—

And at a saving of $5.00 to $10.00 in the price.

The Styles There are numerous styles—every one a duplication of a high-class model. Coats are 30 to 34 in. lengths. Some are belted, but the majority are in the fitted or semi-fitted waistline, with a wide flare from the hips down. Braid and velvet enter into the trimming, with buttons very much in evidence. Others are strictly tailored and every style has a drape and hang of its own.

Cloths and Colors Hard and soft finished serges are very stylish. Wool Poplins are dressy and popular. Whipcords are shown in all styles and colors. Cheviots are coming into renewed favor. In colors you can choose from the staple navy and Copenhagen, new browns, greens, in new tones, wistaria is included, and an abundance of blacks and a few mixtures.

Sizes for Everybody, 16 to 44 Bust, $11.90

Remember—The Fashion Show does not start until 11 o'clock. This gives you 2½ hours in the morning to shop. Then there is an intermission from 1 to 2, and the Fashion Show stops at four, giving you another two hours to look at these Suits and not miss any of the Fashion Show features.

point are some more of the leaks. Affairs in the penitentiary are a burning shame. That institution has been made a mere political plum."

Judge Lamm complained that the administration of Gov. Hadley was crippled because an outrageous gerrymander of the senatorial districts of the State, which makes it impossible for the Republicans to get control of both branches of the Legislature, when they carry the State. Other complaints enumerated against the administration were:

Five or six clerks for each Democratic Senator at each session of the Legislature, and three times more than were necessary in the House.

Extravagance at a time when the State needed every dollar of its revenue for schools, roads and sensible plans for social justice.

Neglect of official duty to further personal ambition.

Neglect of the onerous duty of providing sufficient revenue for increased and ambitious activities of the State and pursuit of a childish course in making paper appropriations. He said that while there was no budget system in this State, its absence afforded no excuse for the demoralization of its finances.

"Throughout the State there are great charitable institutions with a swarm of employes and there are many officers in charge of other State activities," Judge Lamm said. "There is a vast power of appointment and removal in the Governor's hands in that behalf. If that power is used consciously or unconsciously to put mere henchmen in power and place for his own political advancement in reaching some other and new political honor, then it has a formidable if not an irresistible effect. The temptation to such use is seductive and dangerous. When so used it puts personal fealty to the executives, the uppermost thing, and puts a sense of personal official duty and responsibility in a secondary place. Its tendency is bad. It demoralizes public service and lowers away the respect the citizenship feels for executive power. It creates fear. It debauches the pious and noble charities of the State. Our Constitution, recognizing the danger, prohibits a second term to the Governor.

"Has not the time come to take another step and prohibit a Missouri Governor from becoming a candidate during his official term for any other office within the gift of the voters of Missouri? Such a prohibition would tend to do away with personal political machines; a source of scandals in the great charitable institutions and other governmental activities would be dried up, and our Governors would see their only chance for distinction in the faithful performance of gubernatorial duties—duties that are many enough and heavy enough, as all men know, to absorb their energy. Even ineligibility for a second term in an elective office is a right good doctrine to apply to all administrative State officers having control of a great army of appointees.

"Speaking of the raid on the school fund, my opponent's platform declares, in substance, that the State is to be congratulated in having a disputed point settled by the Supreme Court. The idea inferentially is that the raid was a good thing for the schools—it first brought up and then settled the point. See? In that theory pins have saved thousands of lives, namely, by not swallowing them. The cold record is that the money was withheld and used secretly. The people knew nothing about it till long after it was done. That nobody had raised that point except those who needed and took the money for other State purposes is history. That the suit in the Supreme Court was an after-thought to avoid a flame of public indignation leaping mountain high is known too. That the raid was in the teeth of a long settled construction of the law made by those who were friendly to the schools and that unless the Court had rapped the knuckles of the fist that held the money it would have been lost to the schools, is also a known fact."

Judge Lamm devoted considerable time to criticism of the Gardner land bank bill, which he denounced as a dangerous scheme to draw the State into the banking business, at a time when there was no necessity for a State system of rural credits, in view of the fact that a national system has been established by Congress. He sounded a warning that the land bank could be established only by an amendment to the Constitution, and that if it proved the disastrous failure he believed it would, it could be gotten rid of only by another amendment to the Constitution.

He asserted that the State had no money to provide the $1,000,000 required for the bank, and that the bank would be a political institution, with its board of directors being changed every four years as the result of each political campaign. He declared that it was an unthinkable business proposition, openly inviting disaster, and that its vast patronage would become a part of the spoils system of the State. He further charged that the earnings of the bank would not be sufficient to pay its expenses, and that the expenses would have to be charged up to the taxpayers of the State. In the event the farmer failed to pay interest on the loan he obtained from the bank, he said that there was no provision in the bill by which the holder of the debenture issued against the loan could obtain his interest money.

MAN HURT IN PLANTERS HOTEL TURKISH BATH WANTS $25,000

Says He Fell in Hot Room, Became Unconscious and Was Badly Burned Against Steam Pipes.

Alexander McCarney, salesman for a liquor company, and formerly manager of the Beers Hotel, today filed suit in the Circuit Court asking for $25,000 damages from the Planters Hotel Co. for burns and injuries he alleges he suffered in the Turkish bath at the hotel.

The petition alleges that April 22 McCarney arose from a cot on which he had been lying and started to walk across the hot room of the bath. It alleges a rug slipped under his feet and he fell, the fall rendering him unconscious.

It is declared that his body rested against steam pipes and that he received no aid until the odor of his burning flesh attracted attention.

As a result of the injury, the petition alleges, McCarney was in a hospital three months, had 36 inches of skin grafted on his burns and lost 38 pounds in weight. The petition fixed his earning capacity at $5600 a year.

BREMEN AGAIN REPORTED SUNK

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Express from Geneva says a telegram received in Zurich from Hamburg states that a Danish vessel which accompanied the submarine liner Bremen has returned to Hamburg and her commander reports that the Bremen met with an accident and sank in the Atlantic when nine days out from Hamburg. This dispatch is not confirmed from any other source.

BOY KILLED IN FIRE AT HOME

John Lawrence Fleming, 8 years old, one of eight children of Mrs. John Fleming, a widow, was suffocated last night by smoke from a fire which destroyed the Fleming residence in Jerseyville, Ill. The boy was not burned, but was dead when carried from the burning house.

Mrs. Fleming was awakened by sparks falling on her bed. She called the children and hurried seven of them from the house. After getting outside she saw that John was not among them. Firemen found the boy's body under a bed in his room.

CHECK THAT ECZEMA BEFORE IT GETS SERIOUS

That little patch of eruption may be nothing more than a slight annoyance now. But, if neglected, such things have an uncomfortable way of spreading and becoming really serious—turning into itching, burning skin troubles that make life almost unbearable.

So don't take chances. Nip it in the bud with a few simple treatments with Resinol. Usually the first bathing with Resinol Soap and dressing with Resinol Ointment stop all itching, and soon the irritation is entirely cleared away. Doctors have prescribed Resinol for over 20 years, so that it is not an experiment, but a remedy of proven value. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. But if you want a sample of each, free, write to Dept. 54-R, Resinol Baltimore, Md.—ADV.

MRS. COLLINS TO BE 'QUEEN ELIZABETH' IN CHURCH PAGEANT

Two Thousand Persons Will Participate in Affair at Coliseum Oct. 18.

Mrs. Charles Cummings Collins of 20 Lenox place yesterday was selected for the role of "Queen Elizabeth," in the cast of 2000 who will participate in "The Pageant of the Church," to be produced before the delegates and priests attending the general convention of the Episcopal Church. The pageant will be presented at the Coliseum, Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. Collins' selection was made at a meeting of the pageant master—the Rev. George Long of Warsaw, Ill. —and the assistant masters—the Rev. H. W. Mizner of St. Stephen's, St. Louis, and Oliver C. Smith. The Rev. Mizner also is chairman of the cast committee. The names of several women prominent in church and society were suggested for the role. The Rev. E. Duckworth, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, was decided upon to play the part of "Henry VIII."

Many hundreds of the costumes required are being made by the women of the various parishes, under the direction of a Historical Research Committee.

WILL TRAIN MILITIA AVIATORS

War Department to Pay National Guardsmen Salary of Regulars.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The War Department is prepared to train the hundreds of national guardsmen who want to become military aviators, the Aero Club of America has been officially informed by Washington.

Provision for this training was contained in the new army reorganization act with the pay and allowance given officers and enlisted men of the regular army of the same grade. Twelve aero squadrons are to be organized in the national guard.

Family of Man Killed Is Hunted.

The police were informed by letter this morning that a man killed Saturday at Union, Neb., in the collision of an automobile and a passenger train and who is thought to be John Wilson of St. Louis, has a wife and mother living here, entries in a memorandum book found in his pockets indicate. The name of the man's mother is not known, nor the address of his family. The police were asked to find them.

"WILDFIRE" IS WELL PLAYED

Racing Drama Is Second Week Bill at Players' Theater.

"Wildfire," a racing drama once used as a starring vehicle by Lilian Russell, is this week's offering of the stock company at the Player's Theater, where it greatly pleased two big audiences yesterday. In the original production Will Archie, a diminutive actor scored a hit in the part of a stable boy. In the Player's organization there is no young man of Archie's size, and it was necessary to impress a young woman into service and to go outside the company to get one. Miss Kitty Aylward is the name, on the program, of the actress who is playing the part this week. She played it very well indeed.

Mitchell Harris, Thais Magrane, Joe Dailey, Esther Howard, Chester Beach and the other members of the company did excellent work.

OCT. 4 AND 5 GOOD ROADS DAYS

Governor Issues Proclamation Asking Citizens to Work on Highways.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 11.—Gov. Major today issued his annual "good roads" proclamation, designating Oct. 4 and 5 as Good Roads days. He requests that all business be suspended throughout the State those days as far as possible and that citizens work personally on the roads and provide teams and such other equipment as they have. The proclamation requests that the women of the districts where road work is in progress on those days provide meals for the workers.

The Governor will follow his annual custom of putting aside his clothing of fashionable design for the occasion and donning working clothes, in which he usually is photographed standing at the wheel of a road-making machine.

GIRL SLAYER TO BE TRIED AGAIN

HUNTSVILLE, Ark., Sept. 10.—After being out all night considering the case of Miss Naomi Beach, daughter of a farmer near here, on trial for murder, a jury yesterday reported that it was unable to agree and was discharged. The girl will be tried again in March.

She is charged with killing Earl Cisco, son of a neighbor and her former sweetheart, June 20 last. On the stand the girl admitted the killing, but said that Cisco had insulted her in public.

BEAUTY—beauty—everywhere! And what could be more in keeping with the spirit of this interesting occasion than the beauty of line and color that goes with Autumn? Every new season is the harbinger of a fashion innovation; and with the anticipated change comes the desire on your part to see and know all about the newer things. Thus, this Autumn display—authoritative in all that it brings, broad in scope and bountiful in variety—is, in reality, something MORE than the mere showing of merchandise—it is the real fashion keynote of the entire Fall and Winter season.

YOU will see the culmination of weeks of special effort and preparation. You will see the material evidence of our energy and forethought; you will see the worth-while things that have been produced in foreign lands, as well as in our own country. And you will be impressed with the one big idea that is paramount in every section of this opening display—the practicality of everything that is shown. Nothing finds a place here simply because it is rich, or beautiful, or glittering! It may be all of these, but it MUST BE USEFUL.

68 POST-DISPATCH CARTOONS EXHIBITED

Drawings by D. R. Fitzpatrick to Be Shown in Library All This Month.

Sixty-eight cartoons by D. R. Fitzpatrick, which have been printed in the Post-Dispatch in the last four months, are on exhibition in the art room of the Public Library, and will remain there during September.

The exhibit, which has attracted considerable attention, includes cartoons on the European war, the Mexican situation in different phases, American preparedness, national and State politics, and various local topics. Some of the most diverting are those published during the contest for the Republican presidential nomination, both before and during the Chicago convention. Col. Roosevelt appears in most of these. In one of them, he and his nearest male connections appear in successive trenches as "I, my four sons and my two sons-in-law," whom he pledged to fight for the country in case of need, with the proviso "perhaps" in the case of the sons-in-law.

Cartoons on Preparedness.

A particularly effective picture in the preparedness group is the "armored dinosaur" cartoon, which shows one of these prehistoric monsters reaching across a body of water, to devour Uncle Sam, who sits reading pacifist literature. The title is "The Armored Dinosaur Still Exists," and the cartoon is a reply to a pacifist tract which set forth that the armored dinosaur had perished in spite of his superior "preparedness," and that nations which depend on preparedness might suffer a like fate.

One vivid picture, based on a local incident, is "Our Paul Revere." This is "Red" McAuliffe, carrying his hod as he dashes down the street, shouting "Prepare!" Another is the recent "Getting Sour," which shows a despondent citizen imprisoned within a milk bottle.

The strength of the cartoonist is usually in attack, rather than in defense, yet "Fitz" makes several apt portrayals of President Wilson. One of these shows him carrying the responsibilities of state, while a bee of Rooseveltian aspect buzzes about him.

Gov. Major and his vice presidential boom are satirized in two drawings. Three or four pictures show the discomfiture of Candidate Hughes by the appearance of a relentless interrogation point, which signifies, "What would YOU have done?" Another shows Hughes making away with a huge capital I, while Roosevelt, in hot pursuit, shouts "Stop Thief!"

Miss Mary M. Powell, assistant librarian in charge of the art room, has received many inquiries, particularly from boys, about the technique of the drawings. They are made with what is known as a greased crayon, or a lumber crayon, and some of the smaller details are supplied by means of a smaller pencil. They are then worked over with India ink, applied with a brush, wherever a solid black is needed.

DR. JOHN O. GUHMAN DIES SUDDENLY IN HIS HOME

Awakens With Severe Pain in an Arm and Becomes Unconscious Before Physicians Arrive.

Dr. John O. Guhman, 47 years old, of 4531 Washington boulevard, for 27 years a practicing physician in St. Louis, died suddenly at 2:30 this morning. Physicians say the cause of his death cannot be determined without an autopsy. He was in good health yesterday and was out in an automobile with his family.

Early this morning he called his wife and complained of a severe pain in one of his arms, directing her what to do for him. She was following his directions when he became unconscious. Other physicians were summoned, but he died without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Guhman told relatives that when Dr. Guhman complained of the pain, she thought it probably was the result of the long drive yesterday and his constant holding of the steering wheel of the car.

Dr. Guhman was a son of the late Dr. Nicholas Guhman, a widely known physician in St. Louis for many years. He is survived by his widow and four children, the eldest boy 16 years old.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mere Fault-Finders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Republican orators (Mr. Hughes in particular) decline to tell the people wherein President Wilson is guilty of "errors and blunders" during the crises through which the country passed so successfully and so peacefully. Mr. Hughes is plainly no bureau of information. Distinguished men of letters have propounded to him questions germane to the issues but he is still standing on his constitutional rights and remaining noncommittal. It may fairly be presumed that he has taken said questions under advisement, or perchance he deems such questioners guilty of contempt. The public is well aware as to President Wilson's attitude on all governmental issues, both foreign and domestic.

Mr. Wilson would no doubt answer all pertinent questions, and while his language would be highly polished (as becomes a President of this republic) still it would be perfectly plain and intelligible to all but lunatics. Mr. Hughes, by innuendoes and insinuations declares that President Wilson is extremely incompetent and that his whole administration has been characterized by blunders of the most inexcusable and unpardonable character. Educated and experienced voters instantly recognize such arguments as those of all candidates and professional politicians. Republican office seekers are slandering the Democratic party and President Wilson for political purposes and mercenary motives, but the Republican masses, who think and read for themselves, will appreciate all the splendid and progressive laws enacted by this administration. All good Republicans, in common with all good Democrats, are more interested in peace and sound government than in the personal success of any candidate.

People do not expect Republican office seekers or the Republican organs to praise President Wilson and his party for their wonderful record. Democrats legislated for all the people and therefore appeal to all the people for indorsement and merited support.

Jefferson City. H. S. KRAFT.

Player Suggested for Mayor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Today I saw a letter in your valuable paper from Justice in which I note the following:

"A Mayor who would go into the city hall and clean up the payrolls and fire the loafers could save the city probably a million dollars a year."

The man to do that is now in the city hall. He is James Y. Player, the present City Comptroller, He has always stood between the grafter and the City Treasury and the people know his ability, and honor him for his fearless efforts to keep down unnecessary expenditure of the city's money. If he be nominated, I believe the people will elect him by a tremendous majority. J. B.

Food Control.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The recent arbitrary increases in the prices of foods in anticipation of the railway strike was about the last word in conscienceless commercial robbery. Of course all of us know and recognize, that under existing economic conditions we are prey of the men who control things, but how many of us do more than groan under the exactions. Is it not about time to take this matter of food-control into consideration, and make it impossible for a few men to balance life and death in their callous hands?

There is not the slightest reason to ever hope for a reduction in the high cost of living unless it is made criminal to control the necessaries of life; there should be a limitation in the law relating to the storage of fruits and foods; there should be a limitation in law to the extortion possible to unscrupulous producers, middlemen and dealers in not only times of stress but even normal times, and pending such legislation dealers guilty of such acts should be made known and dealt with accordingly. This proposition is fundamental and matters more in the well-being of the masses than all the high or low tariffs ever concocted. LOUIS F. FUCHS.

Some Rents Reasonable.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I wish to answer F. A. Jackson, relative to "High Rents." He says it is impossible to rent four rooms and bath for less than $22.00 in any good neighborhood.

I am married and have 2 children and earn $65.00 per month and have four rooms with bath, electric lights and all modern improvements and pay $18.00 per month. I live in the 3500 block on South Compton av., just across the street from Gravois Park. This is a good neighborhood and the rents are reasonable. Mr. Jackson, come out here Sunday and look the neighborhood over, perhaps you can find a flat that you would like. It is not rents that are too high in St. Louis, but it is other living expenses that are too high. If a man earns $75.00 per month and is married he can have a nice home and live pretty well provided he lives within his earnings.

CHAS. WHITE.

PASTOR WOODROW'S TEARS.

Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow of Pilgrim Congregational Church assumes in his denunciation of the President and Congress for passing the Adamson bill to avert the railroad strike, that the railroad brotherhoods made a demand upon the President and Congress which they were forced to concede. If he had carefully read the record of the President's attempt to settle the strike before speaking on the subject he would have known that the trainmen at no time made any demands upon or even suggested that the President interfere or that Congress act.

The President intervened and Congress acted in opposition to the will of both disputants.

When the President intervened all negotiations had failed and the men had voted to strike. The strike order was issued before the President went to Congress and Congress voted not only without a request from but without the consent of either the railroad heads or the brotherhood leaders. Both sides wanted to fight the controversy out at the expense of the country, but President Wilson and Congress intervened to save the country from calamity.

Pastor Woodrow takes the partisan view of the railroad heads and financial backers who wanted, regardless of the country's interest or the obligations of the roads, to beat down and shoot up the labor unions. He takes the view of the railroad financiers and the partisan politicians who were willing to plunge the country into calamity for their own advantage and in the hope that it would ruin the President who has done more to break their system of pillage through privilege and graft than any President since the war. They want to wreck the party that has legislated them out of power and privilege and has stood for the common people against the plutocratic plunderbund.

Pastor Woodrow bemoans the increased cost of living on account of increases of wages brought about by the struggle of union labor. He hasn't a tear for the crushing of labor to fill the coffers of greedy trust magnates; he hasn't a tear for the enormous burdens laid upon the people by railroad financiers and managers who have looted the railroads and made millions by watering and juggling railroad securities. He hasn't a tear for wage-earners who exist on a bare subsistence under conditions that make life not worth living because greedy employers refuse just demands and reject arbitration. He denounces the milk wagon drivers for seeking to better their small wages by striking, but has not a word of denunciation for the dairy proprietors who refuse to accept arbitration.

If Pastor Woodrow knew anything about railroad management in this country he would denounce the insolence of railroad heads who curse Congress for stopping the strike and prate about protecting stockholders and the public by keeping down the wages of railroad employes; he knows that it is rottenness at the top which has wrecked the railroads, kept down railroad wages except for the men higher up, and has laid intolerable burdens on the public; he knows that the public and the stockholders have been robbed by the men who control the railroads and that rates are high and the bulk of railroad wages are low on account of the loot of the railroad plunderers.

The Government has been held up frequently by the high up railroad gang. The President and the Congress who declined to submit to their dictation and who intervened to save the country from calamity through the selfish designs of both the railroad heads and the railroad unions deserve the honor, gratitude and confidence of the American people.

PARALLEL STRIKE SETTLEMENTS.

By a singular coincidence France and the United States have both settled a threatened labor strike in a similar manner. Here Congress passed the eight-hour law to avert the railroad strike.

The city of Paris was threatened with a meat famine as the butchers of the Marche de la Villette threatened to "walk out" if they were not given shorter hours and increased pay. Eighteen hundred butchers and helpers were involved in the Paris trouble. The La Villette butchers were in the habit of working from sixteen to eighteen hours, as necessity demanded, and their pay was from 3 to 6 francs (60 cents to $1.20) a day; and the helpers had been in the habit of distributing the meat throughout Paris from 4 o'clock in the morning until all dealers were supplied, and to collect the unsold meat at night at a salary of from 1 to 3 francs (20 to 60 cents) a day.

Arbitration was first resorted to but failed; then the Chamber of Deputies took the matter in hand and passed a law that two shifts of men must be employed at the abbatoirs, neither of them to work longer than 10 hours, at the present full day's wage. The advance of salary was denied by the Chamber, probably on M. Briand's suggestion "that meat was already high enough in price, and would become prohibitive if its price were further advanced." The Chamber ordered the butchers back to work under penalty of arrest. In this connection the Paris Temps says:

> It would be rank Socialism if the Government fixed prices, wages and other working conditions. But, this being a matter of public health and welfare, the Government has not exceeded its constitutional limitations. Moreover, we are under extraordinary circumstances which demand extraordinary measures.

THE WYANDOTTE CEMETERY.

Unique, in the minor events of American history, is the successful fight of three women descendants of the Wyandotte Indians to preserve for all time the site of the tribal cemetery at Kansas City. The spirit which has inspired Miss Lydia Conley and her two sisters, Ida and Helen, to defy the Federal Government, in a 25-year struggle, to save this burying ground, manifests a reverence for ancestors not usually found except in China.

Where are the other burying grounds used by Indian tribes? As a rule, they have been swept away, in the march of civilization, with as little compunction as those of white people. Some of the busiest spots in our great cities were once quiet, grave-filled cities of the dead.

It would be neither hygienic nor economically wise to encourage the permanent maintenance of all cemeteries. Fortunately, there is no sentiment in favor of doing this. But we must admire the Conley sisters for their race pride and persistence.

SCHOOL SURVEY CONCLUSIONS.

After two months' careful investigation of the St. Louis school system in all its branches, the experts who were called in to make a survey of the system have given out a preliminary summary of their report. It is highly favorable to the organization, methods and standard of the St. Louis schools. This summary was published in Saturday's Post-Dispatch.

The staff of the Survey has reached the conclusion that our most vital need is a number of new school buildings, to relieve the present congestion. In order to provide money for this, the city has the alternative of cutting down the equipment of the high schools, or of getting the $3,000,000 needed through a bond issue, to be voted on next November. And the Survey experts find in the present High School equipment only what is called for in a well equipped High School system. To economize in the direction of High School education material and classes would be a step backward. We could no longer feel proud of these schools as of the first rank.

Overcrowding, even where time is not actually cut down, is injurious, especially in the elementary schools, where the children need most attention. It makes discipline very difficult, and it is impossible for the teachers to devote themselves to individual advancement of the pupils. It overburdens the teacher, and to the less ambitious child it may mean almost entire neglect.

As with a household, a good, roomy building is essential to health and happiness, so with schools. Indeed, these may be looked upon as workshops, with adequate room as a necessary factor in the production of satisfactory results. The new school buildings asked for will be an investment for this and the coming generations that will pay for their construction many times.

Truly, the presidency is a thankless task when a President who has prevented general distress—possibly civil war—by prompt action in a great emergency, is charged with being influenced merely by a desire to gain votes. Partisan malice could scarcely go farther.

ABOUT MAINE.

Maine normally is a Republican State. Only once, since 1872 has its electoral vote been cast for a Democrat for President. In nineteen hundred and twelve Wilson carried the State by a plurality of 2269, Roosevelt running second and Taft a poor third. In 1888 Harrison's plurality was 23,252, in 1896 McKinley's was 45,777 and in 1900 28,613. In 1904 Roosevelt had 36,807 plurality, and in 1908 Taft 30,584. In the two years that Cleveland was elected the Republican figures notably declined in 1884 to 20,060 plurality, in 1892 to 14,799.

Today Maine will elect a Governor, two United States Senators and four Representatives. From their own forecasts, the Republicans do not look for any such smashing victory as they have been accustomed to expect. Yet even in 1912, when Wilson swept the State, the Democrats failed to elect their candidate for Governor. Twice recently in nonpresidential years—in 1910 and 1914—they have carried the State by relatively small margins. Two years ago Gov. Curtis, who is a candidate for re-election, won by only 3177. If he should win today it would be a Republican catastrophe.

For the first time Maine will elect United States Senators by direct popular vote. The two Democratic candidates are Senators Charles F. Johnson, whose term expires next March, and Dean Sills of Bowdoin College, who seeks the seat left vacant by the death of Senator Burleigh. Of the two Republicans, Fernald and Hale, the latter is regarded as the weaker. Of the four Maine Representatives, only one, Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, is a Democrat. His re-election would probably realize the highest hopes of his party, so far as candidates for Congress are concerned.

The Republicans have centered their efforts on Maine. Mr. Hughes has been on exhibition there in person. Many other eminent speakers have been mobilized for the fray. Maine's local election is of minor importance, but because of its place in the calendar and its strong Republican tendencies the results will be studied as a gauge of the general drift of political sentiment.

NEW WAR TERRORS FAIL.

At the taking of the village of Guillemont, it is said the Germans fired over 10,000 gas shells, but the British attack was not seriously impaired by them. In the earlier days of the war we read of the horrible sufferings caused by the poison gas projected in clouds into the trenches. The gas mask appears to have made this method of attack almost worthless. And the practicability of the attack by flaming fluids, used as a fireman uses hose for the opposite effect, seems to be very doubtful. We read of the soldiers who must carry the tanks of inflammable fluid being burned up when these tanks are smashed by shot and shell. The apparatus seems to be at least as dangerous to its users as to the enemy.

Zeppelins and submarines have not done much to win the war. Aeroplanes have been most useful for scouting. We still have to depend mainly on guns, small and large, their preponderance in number and weight, and the skill to make them effective.

As on my brow thy kisses fell
Like snowflakes pure and chill.

I heard thee lightly breathe my name,
And while I strove to rise,
Upon me dawned a starry flame—
The splendor of thine eyes.

I woke to know thou still dost keep,
While weary years pass by,
Somewhere thy long and hallowed sleep
Beneath a distant sky.

For me alone the broken rest,
Waste dreams that come and pass;
For thee the calm, untroubled breast,
Strange flowers, and alien grass.

CALIFORNIA.

CALIFORNIA, land of sunshine,
Teeming with your fruits and flowers,
Lofty mounts and golden rivers,
Mighty trees and rosy bowers;
In your glory would I gladly
Lay me down and rest the while,
For you bring me Aegean splendors
From each distant Grecian isle.

Here are wonder waters rolling
O'er yon bright and golden sands;
From afar your music calls me,
Calls me both from sea and land;
Oh, my love maid, California,
Leave me not to blissful sorrow!
Stay the bitter time of parting—
Let it not be on the morrow.

Yet the wanderlust has seized me,
And its fangs my heart must fear;
For the finger still points westward,
Softly saying: "It is there!"
And my heart, atune with longing,
Still keeps rhythm with the sea,
As the sun is slowly sinking,
And the far West calls to me.

J. EDWARD EMERY.

Maybe if the Republicans realized that a railroad strike would have made it impossible for their headliners to have appeared in the Maine campaign, they would see more virtue in the President's action to avert it.

THISTLEDOWN boat—boat of the faery,
What do you carry—what can you carry—
What is more light than you?
"Light Love, that lured and flew!"

Thistledown boat—boat of the faery,
Where will Light Love tarry, where will he tarry,
When tired of the heavens blue?
"Light Love will fall in the dew."

Thistledown boat—boat of the faery,
Light Love is wary, of sorrow is chary—
Slain blossoms his pathway strew! . . .
"There will be blossoms new."

THE SEASONS.

I.

THE pulse of Spring through everything
Throbs vibrantly and strong,
And merrily, in budding tree
The robin trills his song.
That virile zeal which youth must feel
Flows strongly in my breast,
While Future stands with gen'rous hands
To do a youth's behest.

II.

Comes golden Summer, and, with rush divine,
Paints earth a multicolored, glorious hue.
The hills are drest in honeysuckle vine,
On porch and fence the trailing roses twine,
The upturned lily face is bathed with dew.
The bud of hope unfolds beneath her smile,
And ardor ripens into full belief.
The desert blossoms like a fairy isle,
And all mankind is sweetly free from guile—
The sea of life hides not a single reef.

III.

Now Autumn with its chilling winds doth fall,
And vines and flowers fade and wither, all.
Bare, pleading branches call to faithless leaves,
The sun strives faintly through the muffling pall.
Love's full blown rose is shattered by the blast,
Warm leaves of faith are sadly earthward cast,
Despairing heart shrinks, shieldless and forlorn,
The gray snow clouds o'erhead are gath'ring fast.

IV.

Only remains the desolate winter,
Cheerless and barren,
With its icy breath
Whistling through the naked branches.

The Love Charm

A Flemish story of witchcraft.

(In about 1880 there began a literary and artistic movement in Belgium to found a national literature, and to rehabilitate the Flemish genius. While most of the writers in this movement used the French language, their struggle was against the increasing influence of French technique, French style and French art-forms. Among the leading spirits in this Flemish movement were Maurice Maeterlinck, J. K. Huysmans and George Eckhoud. This story is from one of the most popular short tales by the latter.)

IT was fair time in the Flemish village of Viersel. At the Golden Swan everybody was dancing like mad—everybody except Rika Let. She stood outside looking through the window. Nobody had asked her to dance. Nobody had bought her a fair present.

It was not because she was ugly. Her tresses were as beautiful as the August wheat fields of Flanders. Her lips were as ripe cherries. She might well have tempted any lad to put his arm around her. But the village of Viersel was full of rich girls, and Rika Let was the poorest in the place, an orphan, working as dairymaid for Farmer Verhulst.

She watched the dancing till she could bear it no longer. Unholy thought stirred in her. With sudden resolution she turned away, sought the clay hut of old Nanna Hokespokes, renowned as a witch, and asked boldly for a love charm.

The hideous old woman gave her a dried toadstool and little bag containing powder. "Little one," she said, "this toadstool was picked under the gallows where the cobbler was hanged. Next full moon night sprinkle the powder at the foot of your bed. Then stab the mushroom deep with a needle and say three times: "I command thee, charmed plant, to bring me the man who shall wound me as I wound thee!"

On the appointed night, when silvery-blue moonlight flooded her attic room over the stable, Rika performed the incantation and cowered, eyes wide with fear, waiting for what should happen.

The yard door swung open with a bang. A quick, heavy step crossed the farmyard—and the dog did not bark! Clope! Clope! sounded heavy boots climbing the attic stair ladder.

Into the room stepped a soldier, a young artilleryman, tall and handsome. His broad breast rose and fell. He panted as if he had run a hard race. The buttonhole on his boot strap was torn out. He noticed it, took out a penknife and made a new hole.

The next moment he had vanished. Rika thought for a moment that it had been a dream. Then she saw something glittering on the floor in the moonlight. It was a tortoise-shell handled penknife.

At Next Fair-Time Rika Was the Wife of Kors Davie.

IN Fort IV at Vieux-Dieu near Antwerp, young Kors Davie sat up in his cot. "Pouh!" he exclaimed. "What a vile dream!" He turned to his comrade. "I was chased across the country by a horrible old woman who rained blows on me. She chased me over heath, swamp and ditches. Pouh!"

He dressed himself with unusual care, for it was his day of leave, and he was going to his native village. Suddenly he clapped his hand to his pocket. He searched all his other pockets, and then under his cot. "Begga Leuven's little knife!" he said to his comrade. "My Begga's! The pretty knife she bought for me in Antwerp! I've lost it! What shall I say to her?"

He forgot all about the knife when he approached Viersel, which lay on his road. There sat a girl tending cows, and he thought that never had he seen one more beautiful. She hid her face, for she recognized him as the man of her dream. He caught her by the arm and tried to look into the sweetly blushing countenance. He saw the blue-green of her eyes under golden lashes.

At the next fair time, Rika was not mournful. She was the rich Madame Davie, mistress of the great Stork Farm of Wildonck, and she and her husband Kors Davie, Kors the Black as people called him, were feasting with her former employers, the Verhulsts. Rika had gone there especially to show Madame Verhulst her gorgeous silk dress—such a dress as the Verhulsts never could afford.

After the feast she took her husband by the arm and showed him around the farm. Then they climbed to the garret where she used to sleep.

"Kors, my well-beloved," said Rika, "do you not remember this room?"

"What a strange question!" he answered. "You know that this is the first time I have crossed the threshold."

"Are you certain?" She laughed at his puzzled look. "Must I remind you? Look!"

She drew Begga Leuven's knife from her pocket. He held out his hand, trembling, and took it. The moment he touched it, he saw again the hideous old woman who pursued him with blows. He ran over heath and swamp. His breath came short and labored. Then, all at once, he saw himself running into the garret. He stared, and recognized the room where he had lost the pretty knife, the present from his first, his true, gentle love.

He Knew Now What Evil Power Had Fired His Heart.

TO his memory and heart the pure and holy passion returned with the might of a spring flood. He remembered with a deadly pang how he had left his Begga without a word of explanation, how he had been deaf to the curses of his grandfather, how he had shed no tears at the grave of his father, whose death was caused by grief over his son's falsity.

The nightmare, the lost knife, the accursed garret! He knew now what evil power had fired his heart at first sight of the girl who stood there at his side.

The pale moon had risen and looked into the window. It bathed the attic in silver rays tinged with blue. The open knife lay in Black Kors' hand, which held it with so mighty a grip that the fingers were bloodless. Its blade shone in the moonlight.

Between two wild strains of music that rang from the Golden Swan, he plunged the knife into his wife's breast.

She fell without uttering a cry. Did not the incantation run: "I command thee, charmed plant, to bring me the man who shall wound me as I wound thee?"

Chipped Ice.

BREAK ice into lumps, then take an ordinary hatpin, and by piercing the ice perpendicularly with the pin one can chip a quantity in a few minutes with little effort or waste.

This is an excellent help in filling a thermos bottle for use in the sickroom.

Why the Sun Is Hot

IF we could build up a solid column of ice from the earth to the sun, two miles and a half in diameter, spanning the intervening distance of 93,000,000 miles, and if the sun should concentrate his entire power upon it, it would dissolve in a single second, according to a calculation made by Prof. Young, says Popular Science Monthly. To produce this enormous amount of heat would require the hourly burning of a layer of anthracite coal more than 19 feet thick over the entire surface of the sun. If the sun were composed of solid coal and we derived our heat from the burning of that coal the sun would burn out in less than 5000 years. Since the earth is millions of years old the sun cannot be burning. Its heat must be generated in some more persistent way.

The great German physicist Helmholtz was the first to explain satisfactorily what keeps the sun hot. The sun is not burning; it is heated to the glowing point, like a piece of white hot iron. Helmholtz found that if we suppose the sun to be contracting by only 250 feet a year we would receive our present amount of heat. In other words, heat is being literally squeezed out of the sun.

"RINGER" HELPED COTE BRILLIANTES BEAT CHICAGO 8-7

Corrigan, a Christian Brothers Student, Played First Base for St. Louis Team.

DROVE IN TWO TALLIES

Blaine School Nine, With Seven Run Lead in Third, Lost in Ninth.

With the aid of First Baseman Corrigan, a student of Christian Brothers' College, the Cote Brilliantes, public school champions of St. Louis, won the intercity contest from the Blaine School of Chicago, 8 to 7, yesterday afternoon.

One of the men interested in the promotion of the game stated that Corrigan was used because Culver Coudy did not arrive in time. Coudy, though, was seen practicing in the outfield, his regular position, on another diamond, while the Manewal-Wabada game was going on. Tully, the Cote Brilliantes' regular first sacker, played second base.

The game yesterday, which was staged for the intercity grade school championship, was promoted by private individuals and not by the Public School Athletic Association.

In the contest yesterday Corrigan, who until two years ago was a student of the Cote Brilliante School, made two hits and played a great fielding game at the initial sack. In the ninth, with the Cotes three runs behind and two men on bases, Corrigan drove out a clean bingle that scored both of them. His other hit came in the fourth and helped the locals to two runs.

All told Corrigan drove in two tallies and counted one himself.

Both Sides Go "Ballooning."

As for the contest itself, it proved an erratic, but exciting affair, with the Cotes doing the ballooning in the early part and the Windy City title holders in the closing stages. All the runs for Blaine came in the second and third frames, mainly through the poor work of the locals. Six runs in the eighth and ninth frame won it for St. Louis.

Coming in for their half of the ninth, three runs to the bad, the locals started taking advantage of Pitcher Hall's wildness. Hauk was safe when Catcher Kelly dropped the third strike. Then Hall made a wild throw trying to catch him napping. Ware walked and stole second.

Here Corrigan stepped in with a single, sending both runners across and putting the Cotes only one run behind. O'Malley grounded to short and Cronin threw wild trying to get Corrigan at third. Corrigan, though, was out trying to score. Murphy's double counted O'Malley with the tieing marker and Tully's hit drove Murphy over with the winning talley.

Visitors Make Four in Second.

Blaine chased four across in the second on Cronin's double, a single by Hall, pass to Lind, Anderson's single, a wild throw by Warmbold, trying to rob Lind of his hit, and Abernathy's bingle. The third was almost as bad, three markers coming over for Chicago on hits by Kelly, Cronin, Lind and Luth, with two infield outs mixed in.

Cote Brilliante tallied twice in the fourth. Ware walked and Corrigan hit safely. Murphy's single scored both after one batter had been retired. After this Cote Brilliante filled the bases, but Rodgers fanned for the third out. In the eighth two more were counted on two singles and a couple of passes.

Harry O'Malley after the third round twirled a great game for the locals. Hall's wildness kept him in hot water most of the time, he passing 14 batters, but not until the ninth did the Cotes do any damage. The winning marker was counted with Cronin on the hill.

The paid admissions for yesterday's game were a little over 500 and the receipts just a bit more than $100. After taking out expenses and dividing 50—50, the Chicago team received less than $50, which means they are out about $125 on the trip here.

Ward, Winner of Dash Title, a St. Louis Boy

A. E. WARD, the Chicago A. A. runner, who Saturday won the senior 100 yards championship, defeating Alvah Meyer and Joe Loomis, the former title-holder, was born and raised right here in St. Louis. He is a cousin of Fred Ward, a member of the Registration Committee of the W. A. A. U., and graduated from the Cote Brilliante school.

Fred Ward said yesterday afternoon that he would probably bring the new champion here for the Columbian Athletic Club's closing handicap meet, which will be held on Sept. 24.

The athlete is something of a "come back." In the last Missouri A. A. meet held at the Coliseum before fire destroyed the club house, Ward strained a tendon in his leg and was unable to run for some time. He is running as good as ever now, though. Ward on Friday was victor in the junior 100 yards. His time in both races was 10 seconds. Ward is 22 years old.

Pierce Mathews and M'Mullen to Box at Barracks

Principals in Hard Fight Several Months Ago Will Renew Hostilities Tonight.

The boxing program arranged by Jefferson Barracks A. C. for tonight should afford good entertainment.

Pierce Mathews and Joe McMullen are paired in the main event, a 12-round bout at 135 pounds. The men are well matched and a hard battle is expected.

Five months ago they met in an eight-round bout at the Keokuk Athletic Club and McMullen was declared the winner by a very close margin at the end of a hard-fought contest. Since that time Mathews knocked out Paddy Kelly in eight rounds, while McMullen has beaten Cy Young and "Kid" Anderson.

For the semi-final, eight rounds at 116 pounds, Charles ("Red") Johnston has been matched with Jimmy Kenney. The latter has not been seen in the ring for several months, but Johnston has been boxing quite regularly and about two weeks ago easily defeated Georgie Witt.

Pete Macklin and Lou Thomas will box the preliminary bout, six rounds at [illegible] pounds.

The bouts will be preceded by a battle royal, in which five white soldiers representing different companies at the post will participate.

The entertainment will take place in Post Hall, and tickets of admission may be obtained at the door. The Jefferson Barracks Military Band will render a concert, beginning at 7:30 p. m., and promptly at 8:30 the boxing will be started. Civilians may purchase tickets.

Harry Sharpe will referee.

Chip to Fight Darcy.

A cablegram from Jimmy Dime, who is in Australia with five American fighters, states that George Chip, the crack middleweight of Pittsburg, and Les Darcy, the Australian middleweight champion, have been matched to meet in a 20-round bout at Snowy Baker's open air boxing arena at Sydney on the afternoon of Sept. 15. Chip is to receive a guarantee of $2500 with the privilege of accepting 25 per cent of the gross receipts.

AMATEUR TEAMS PLAY ELIMINATION CONTESTS

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 11.—The Pitcairn home run with two on bases in the second inning yesterday, gave the Fort Dearborn Bankers, Chicago amateur champions, a 5 to 2 victory over the Des Moines Gas team, in the first game of an elimination series to decide the championship of the National Baseball Federation.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Golf Title Worth $30,000 to Evans.

"CHICK" Evans realized several ambitions when he captured the national amateur golf title from R. A. Gardner, Saturday. Not all of them were of the glory or ephemeral type, since one result is expected to be a financial increment of at least $30,000.

While in St. Louis recently to play at the opening of the new municipal links and to display his skill over the Midland Valley and Westwood Country Club courses, Evans stated in the hearing of several St. Louisans that a victory in the national amateur championship tourney would mean $30,000 additional income to him.

There is an amateur rule which goes into details about the "amateurism" of the golfer who uses the prestige which his skill has won to further his financial ends and who obtains money directly by trading on his prestige as a player.

But "Chick" does not come under this rule, it seems. Evans did not amplify his statement and go into details as to the source whence this $30,000 was to spring.

But one may guess that his added fame will enhance the value of that Chicago gold mine, his golf magazine and increase the value of his syndicated writings on golfing topics.

Thus he is strictly within the letter of the law. "Chick" is not paid for his exhibitions at various courses around the country. But he is liberally remembered when the expense account is made up, which is also legal.

Safeguarding the "Pro."

IN these "amateur" times nobody thinks of protecting the poor professional, who is on the ropes and about to take the count. Bunkers, pits and traps safeguard the hallowed ground of amateurism; but anybody can run over the poor "pro," and none so lowly as to do him reverence.

Makers of laws which govern sports are put to extremes to define just the exact moment when an amateur becomes a professional, and when he must be booted from the sacred ranks out into the cold and profitless world of professionalism.

But, after looking over the situation attentively, what we would like to know is: WHY?

Is it because a "pro" is a superior player to the simon pure?

Is it because he is not the social equal of the amateur?

Is it because he labors for money?

* * *

"Amateurs" the Real "Pros."

IT requires little delving into history to learn that the original distinction between amateur and professional, in this country at least, grew up from a desire to protect the casual player as against the vocational star.

It was considered unreasonable to expect an amateur, who played only OCCASIONALLY and for the fun of it, to display the expertness of a professional, who earned his living by practicing his art EVERY DAY.

But, in certain sports in this country, the situation has since been reversed. Independent income—sometimes indirectly due to the sport itself—has enabled a number of our best amateurs to spend practically ALL THEIR DAYS during the season in developing their skill.

The poor professional must be away, at times. If he is a golf "pro" the care of the links, instruction of players and other details take a considerable bit of his time from practice. If he is a tennis man the courts demand his daily care, almost to the exclusion of personal playing.

The same applies in various ways to swimming, to track and field athletics and, practically, to all the sports in which amateurism today is in the ascendent.

Amateurs Beat the "Pros."

AS a result, the "professional" has lost out both in glory and playing ability to the point where most of the coin and nearly all of the records are made by amateurs.

Since 1912, when Francis Ouimet, then a boy amateur and graduate caddy, lowered the colors of the two greatest golfers in the world, Vardon and Ray, the golf professional has been waning.

The last two years amateur golfers have won the national "open" title, supposed to be reserved exclusively for professional conquest.

There isn't a professional tennis player with the ghost of a chance against our best amateurs.

Jay Gould won the world's court tennis title from a professional.

In the athletic field only four or five world's championship marks out of 20 or more are held by professional athletes.

Amateur swimmers absolutely dominate the field and practically all records are held by "amateurs."

And so on—the superiority of the amateur holds everywhere except when the professional pastime pays so much more that the "amateur" turns "pro" and as soon as his ability becomes exceptional. This applies in boxing, baseball and one or two other sports.

In short, it is the "pro" who needs the protection from the amateur who, with nothing to hamper him, can devote ALL his time to improving his ability.

This Is More Like It.

FRED HALL THOMAS, alias Welsh, the "safety first" lightweight champion fighter, has saved his face by announcing that he is willing to fight Charley White 45 rounds or as near to a finish as the law will allow, anywhere such a fight can be held and made to pay.

Criticism of his ring methods have stung Freddie to the core—which is not the pocketbook, by any means, Bo. Hit him there and you knock him—and his manager, Harry Pollok—cold. He is eager to show that he is stronger than White and can wear him out, as well as outgeneral him, in a 20-round go.

And if Freddie makes this fight within the year we'll have a bit of the family plate on his chances of success. For Freddie is a world's champion financier, as well as a title-holding fighter. When he thinks he is going to win and risks anything on the same, you can bet a chicken ranch against a fried egg that he'll beat.

But Freddie, if you fight the same kind of a bout for 45 rounds that you fought for 20 periods at Colorado Springs, you'll wear out the public, as well as your opponent.

* * *

Put Yourself in His Place.

AFTER all, it's easy to criticise and hard to suggest a substitute sometimes. Welsh, lacking a punch, it seems, has to safeguard himself by cleverness. If he waded in and mixed, the other fellow's style, a left hook to the chin would separate him from his waking hours and his easy money graft.

Put yourself in his place, Bo. Would YOU, in his place, wade in and swap punches with a 42-centimeter gun, taking a chance, when you knew a sure way to win by playing it safe?

Have pity on our sore lip before you hasten to reply.

Semi-Final Round Reached in Series for Municipal Cup

Wagners, Suburbans, Friscos and Kinseys Will Play Next Saturday.

The Wagner Electrics, St. Louis Suburbans, Kinsey Club and Friscos reached the semifinals in the Municipal Baseball Association race for the championship by winning their second round contests yesterday. In the semifinals to be played next Saturday the Wagners tackle the Friscos, while the Suburbans and Kinsey Club fight it out. A three-game series to decide the title winner will be played Sept. 23 and 24.

In the clashes yesterday the Wagners had the easiest time winning. The Mercantile League pennant winners, with Teddy Novak hurling a four-hit game, trounced the St. Leos of the Sodality League, 10—1. Novak helped win his own game with a home run.

The Suburbans, who are expected to fight it out in the final with the Wagners, trounced the Moons of the Auto League, 8—3, putting across five runs in the sixth frame, when they were two runs to the bad. Lilpop and Radell were the opposing twirlers. After the second inning Lilpop twirled great ball.

The Kinsey Club sprang a surprise by defeating the Hy-Tex of the City League, 7—4. Ellerman, the winners' twirler, yielded six safeties and passed 10 batters, while his mates made seven errors behind him. The Hy-Tex, though, were unable to hit in the pinch.

A determined rally in the ninth frame by the Grand-Gravois fell one run and they went down before the Friscos, 9—8. Shea and Bresser twirled for the winners and Murphy, Dessau and Weisinger for the losers.

$18.50 Suit or Overcoat to Order. Newest colorings; blues, browns, grays, stripes, plaids, checks. Stylish individual fitting. King the Tailor, 6th and Olive.

Famous Weight Thrower Ill.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—"Matt" McGrath, champion weight thrower and a member of the police force, lies in the Volunteer Hospital in a critical condition.

While inspecting doors he fell from a platform only a foot and a half high and suffered a possible fracture of the spine, a sprained back and contusion of the right leg.

As an athlete McGrath has an enviable record. First for the New York Athletic Club and then for the Irish-American Athletic Club he won metropolitan and national championships and he was a member of the Olympic teams that went to Athens and London.

Rickey Finds Another Marvel.

This is by way of warning. We want to prepare the local fans for a shock. Pay heed: Branch Rickey has another Michigan phenom on the way, and he'll be ready for service next season. Who he is and whence he comes, Branch refuses to state. But he does say this:

"Next to Sisler, I think this new man will be the greatest ballplayer I ever picked up. He can do anything. He has pitched, played third and the outfield I'm going to stake my reputation on him."

Rickey has some reputation to stake, too. Any man who, in two years, uncovered such men as Sisler, Lavan, Koob, Severeid and Park, can honestly boast. If Rickey retired after snaring Sisler and Lavan he would have done more for local baseball than any man before or since.

To Order, Suit or Overcoat, $18.50. Newest colorings; blues, browns, grays, stripes, plaids, checks. Stylish individual fitting. King the Tailor, 6th and Olive.

Hurry-Call Sent for John Evers; Braves' Pennant Chances Fading

LOSING 12 of their last 14 games, the Braves have all but forfeited their pennant chances for the current season. Only a woeful slump by the Phillies and Superbas will save the day for Boston, now 4½ games behind. If Brooklyn breaks even in its remaining 26 games, Boston will be obliged to win 19 and lose 10 of its unplayed 29.

For that reason the distress signal is today flying over the Boston camp. A hurry call has been sent for John J. Evers, now in a rest-camp in the New York mountains. Evers suffered almost a complete nervous breakdown two weeks ago.

However, Stallings has asked the Trojan to rejoin the club and give the Braves a lift in the final drive to Pennantville.

Jack Barry may return to the Red Sox lineup in another week. Barry intends to take the Western trip with the Red Sox, according to advices from Boston. Carrigan's clan has three games with the White Sox and a like number with the Tigers. The odd battle in each of these collisions would just about cinch it for Boston.

After Saturday's games, Indianapolis was only one-half a game behind Louisville for the American Association pennant. Yesterday Louisville, chiefly through the great pitching feats of Schauer and Stroud, late of New York, won a double-header from St. Paul, 5—2 and 4—1, while Indianapolis lost, 2—1 and 3—2, to Minneapolis and all but forfeited its pennant chance. With only a week to run, the race seems to be all in Louisville's favor.

Johnny Lavan went hitless yesterday and his close friends mourned because hits mean money to Lavan these days. He has a clause in his contract calling for a $500 bonus if he reaches the .250 mark this season. He's now tagging along with a record of .238. However, Lavan has played better ball than a majority of Jones' men. It would be poor sportsmanship to deny him the bonus, even though he does fall a few points below the .250 mark.

JONES WILL USE VETS TO ATTAIN FIRST DIVISION

Several Recruits Will Join Club Soon, but They May Not Get a Chance.

PENNANT OUTLOOK

FIGURING a percentage of 89-65 .578 to win the pennant in the American League and one of 92-62 .597 to land the leading honors in the National, the contending clubs in the two circuits will have to play at the following pace in their remaining contests to attain the figures:

*G. B.—Games behind at per cent.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Whatever interest is left in baseball for local fandom, will be furnished by the Browns who are now struggling to finish the season in the first division. The Cardinals are almost hopelessly assigned to seventh place, in view of Huggins' determination to try out young players. However, the Cubs, crippled by the absence of Larry Doyle, who was injured Saturday, are only three games atop of the Cards.

Incidentally, it is altogether possible for the Browns to land in the seventh cellar. Only 2½ games separate the Yanks, who are fourth, from the Griffmen, who are seventh. The Browns are one-half a game behind the Yanks.

But the Browns showed unmistakable signs of a return to form yesterday, when they knocked off the White Sox, 5—2, in 10 innings. Sisler's single, coming with runners on second and third, did the "biz" and checked the pennant drive of Chicago. The Sox had won seven straight games and were on the verge of taking second place when the Browns made them bite the dust. Now they are third, two full games behind the pace-making Boston entry.

Cards En Route East.

The Cardinals folded their tents last night and started on their final swing around the Eastern end of the circuit. They will return in time to play the Browns in the fall series, having finished their championship battles at Robison Field.

The Browns play three more games with the White Sox, opening here Thursday against the champions of Christendom, alias the Red Sox. St. Louis will have a breathing spell for the next three days.

The Browns have 18 more games to play, all at Sportsman's Park. In turn, they entertain the Red Sox, Griffmen, Yankees, Athletics and Tigers. They have only two games with Boston, four with New York and three with each of the others.

It is improbable that Fielder Jones will try out any youngsters, although several recruits will join the Brown squad here Thursday. The Southern League delegation, composed of Fincher, Paulette and Billy Lee will be on hand, while Catcher George Hale of Rochester will be available next Sunday. Hale may get a trial, as the Brown catching staff needs strengthening.

Giants the Best Team?

"The best club in our league today is New York," said Miller Huggins, before departing for the East last night. "McGraw has finally put together a team that has all the earmarks of a winner, but he acquired his talent too late."

However, it is interesting to note that the fans of New York have not lost faith in the Giants, although they have been knocking about in second division most of the season. Official announcement was made that 35,000 fans turned out Saturday for the Giants' double-header with the Phillies. This season the Giants have scarcely ever been a pennant factor. On the other hand the Yankees held first place for a spell of 10 days, but never even approached the record crowd that was housed at the Polo Grounds Saturday. New York is a "National League" town, no matter what the Yankees do. That has been definitely established by developments of the current season.

Cardinal Rookies Work Out.

Two Cardinal recruits were introduced Sunday, and neither made a deep impression, because the Cardinals went to smash early and everything went wrong. Bob Steele pitched a bad game.

But Stewart, the new second sacker, has speed at least, while he's of nice size, and will get every chance to develop. Bohen at short turned two smart fielding plays, but he also kicked a couple of chances and seemed nervous. Huggins will keep this pair in the box score in most of the remaining games, although he'll haul up the regulars any time there's a chance to win.

However, if the Cardinals are to evacuate the Pond of Perdition next season, it is squarely up to Huggins to perpetrate another remarkable trade. He needs seasoned talent, and the only way to get it is to pull a deal. The Cardinal infield, no matter how Hug juggles it, is wabbly. He needs a shortstop, and needs him badly.

After having lost seven straight games, Cleveland got going yesterday and whipped the Tigers, 8—2. Bagby went to Morton's relief in the third inning and saved the game, while the Indians pounded James and Boland with great abandon. Neither Cobb nor Speaker got a hit. Both coaxed two passes.

SPORT SALAD BY L. C. Davis

Very Good, Eddie.

WELL, you walloped Rowland's men,
Eddie Plank.
You are on your stride again,
Eddie Plank.
Though you're over forty-two,
Of the kids there are but few
Who have anything on you,
Eddie Plank.

Yes, you put a crimp in "Pants,"
Eddie Plank.
With your tantalizing slants,
Eddie Plank.
When your speed and curves have fled,
With that gray but level head
You will knock the batters dead,
Eddie Plank.

They may hit you in the spring,
Eddie Plank.
Ere you loosen up your wing,
Eddie Plank.
But you're always in your prime,
In the good old summer time,
And you help the boys to climb,
Eddie Plank.

As Usual.

THE Browns were outhit yesterday, 12 to 7, which means, of course, that our boys won another ball game.

* * *

It was a cruel blow we handed Commy's men, but it had to be done. First division is at stake.

* * *

The Browns are the champion joy killers both at home and abroad. Ask any of the 28,000 fans who saw the debacle in the tenth inning at Comiskey Park yesterday.

* * *

"Pol" Perritt entered the iron man class Saturday by trimming the Phils in a double-header and toppling the Patmorans off of the pinnacle.

* * *

The Tigers missed a good opportunity to grab a little ground yesterday. The Browns did their part, but the Jungaleers didn't rise to the occasion.

Looks Like First Division.

The Cote Brilliantes won the grammar school championship from Chicago in a one-game series yesterday. Gotta give it to them grammar school boys.

* * *

The single men put it over the married men in the Century Boat Club barge race yesterday. The married men would like to get a crack at 'em in the doubles.

* * *

The Cards wound up their local season at Robison Field yesterday. They didn't exactly wind it up in the well known blaze of glory, either.

* * *

However, the outlook for next year is very promising. If some of those recruits Hug is trying out develop into Cobbs, Hornsbys and Sislers they may take the fall series from the Browns.

Change of Sentiment.

SING a song of baseball,
Rooters filled with joy;
Twenty thousand ball fans
Yelling: "Atta boy!"
When the pitcher faltered
They hollered: "Take him out!"
Now wasn't that a lovely thing
For any guy to shout?

THERE was a lefthander named
Chase,
Who went in to play second base;
He could cover the ground
Though he whirled clear around
In order his man to efface.

YOUNGER TENNIS PLAYERS OCCUPY LOCAL SPOTLIGHT

Eighteen-Year-Olds Will Represent City in National Municipal Finals.

Drewes, Jostes and Ward Will Represent St. Louis in National Net Event

TAYLOR WARD, Theodore Drewes and Frederick Jostes have been chosen to represent this city in the National Amateur Tennis Federation tournament, the final round of which will be played in this city next month.

Ward and either Drewes or Jostes will play in the singles men, while the latter pair will compete in doubles.

After easily defeating Drewes yesterday, Ward took one set from Jostes, 6—2, and had a 6—5 advantage in the second set, when a committee of four called a halt to the competition and selected Ward.

Intercity elimination matches are now being played all over the country. New York and Minneapolis have won in their respective sections, while Cincinnati and Chicago will meet for the Central District title.

When a 17-year-old youngster eliminates from city championship competition the Triple A tennis titleholder, when three 18-year old lads are chosen to represent the fourth municipality of the United States in intercity matches, and when a mere high school boy forces the city champion to go three sets before a match is decided, why then it's time to take notice.

And that is just what local racquet followers are doing. St. Louis' annual city championship tennis tournament is "on" and from present indications the upsets of form are going to come as fast and furious in the local circle as they came in the national court affairs this season.

It looks like a youngsters' year. Walter Haase, just out of high school and proclaimed by the local talent to be the real "find" of the season, won hands down over Triple A Champion Walter Bowman. The tale of the disaster reads 6—2, 6—4, and these scores do not half tell of the difference in class.

Then Taylor Ward, Fred Jostes and Ted Drewes were yesterday selected to represent the city in the inter-city matches, while Rollie Hoerr was forced to a third set before he disposed of A. Hollinshead, a young South Side player.

That's not all, though, men. We have besides the aforementioned Ed Thursby, city junior champion; Ray Epstein of the Soldan High team, and Karl Hodge, all youthful but really militant factors in the tourney.

It is unusual that all of these youngsters should be in the thick of the fight at the completion of the second round of play and certainly causing a bit of anxiety in the camps of the "old guard." Veteran members of the local court fraternity attribute the invasion of the child wonders to the municipal courts and the visit of the Western stars here last season.

The public courts are just beginning to bear their fruits, while it may be noticed that many youngsters are attempting to emulate the style of the Pacific Coast men in taking over the "kill" game. That seems to be the only explanation of the matter, anyhow.

A number of second-round matches and some of the third-round play will be held on the courts of the Triple A this afternoon. A large crowd was on hand yesterday and with the most interesting city tourney in years is promised for the week, record throngs will probably be on hand daily.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

STOCKS ARE FIRM; OVER A MILLION SHARES ARE SOLD

Wall Street Market Shows Decided Activity; Closing Reflects Some Strength.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review, today says:

"Although the trading on the Stock Exchange once more ran beyond a million shares—the fifth consecutive full business day of the sort—the trend of prices was not uniformly upward.

"In the early hours, there were abundant signs of heavy profit-taking sales, and prices even of the leading speculative stocks fell back at times 1 to 2 points. There was a new buying movement on each of these reactions, however, and in the final hour, as usual in a market of this character, the bidding-up process was converged again on stocks whose action could be reckoned on to affect the general market."

"At the close, therefore, the market's appearance was that of positive strength, though the net changes of the day were irregular. There was no change whatever in the dominance of professional speculation, though naturally the sight of 'million-share days,' with advancing prices, had its usual effect on the more speculative outside public.

"The Steel shares, which hung back in the early market, were again made the stalking horse of the final trading and even Bethlehem was pushed to the front.

"No attention was paid to the news of the day, such as it was. Exchange on Berlin went a fraction lower; on Paris the rate was considerably more favorable.

Election Not a Factor.

"Less was heard of the Maine election as a potent influence on financial sentiment and a propelling force on values. This was in spite of the fact that the voters of that State—possibly not conscious of the extent to which their action, in the eyes of Wall street, would obscure the New York street car strike and the European war—were dropping their ballots into the box today. Tomorrow, we may know to what extent, if at all, the campaign committees and the Stock Exchange enthusiasts have misjudged the prophetic qualities of the State.

"The truth appears to be that both have confused the September election in Maine, which has rarely been an accurate foreshadowing of November, with the September election in Vermont, which for unknown reasons has always been an absolutely unerring forecast of the national results. Vermont's September State election has been abolished, and as Maine alone is left the presumption seems to be that the mantle of Elijah has been transferred.

"Probably Wall street will be figuring on its pads of paper tomorrow on the apparent distribution of the Maine Progressive vote of 1912, between Republicans and Democrats this month, and on the necessary inference as to the redistribution of the national Progressive vote. Then we shall have the conclusions drawn as regards the proper response of the Stock Exchange. What Wall street has of late shown itself to have been most anxious for, is new arguments.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Reading was the only striking exception to the rising tendency on the resumption of trading today, other leaders and speculative favorites mounting above last week's final quotations. Reading's reversal of 2½ points was soon largely recovered, however, while Coppers, Independent Steels, Equipments and the paper issues registered gains extending from fractions to 3 points. United States Steel opened with 10,000 shares up to 103½, or within a fraction of its maximum attained last Saturday. Shipping shares were represented by Marine preferred and Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies, the latter at a new record.

Apart from enormous trading, which exceeded 700,000 shares, the feature of the forenoon was the absolute neglect and relative heaviness of rails. Reading was the only issue of that group to show any prominence, even under pressure, other investment issues being engulfed in the bewildering movement of speculation in other parts of the list. Minor stocks of the nondividend class participated in the rise, but steel, which repeated its record price of 103¾ and Marine preferred, which broke all records at 125⅝, were the conspicuous features. Metals, Mexicans, and some equipments and munitions, were 2 to 3 points higher. Bonds were irregular.

Heaviness of the rails increased later with pressure from Canadian Pacific and St. Paul. Recessions of 1 to 2 points occurred in leading issues, but the decline was checked on fresh buying of Reading and prominent industrials.

4 Autos Stolen, 2 Recovered.

Four automobiles were stolen last night, two of which have been recovered. The auto of Jacob Nieman, 4054 McPherson avenue, was stolen from Taylor and Easton avenue; the auto of George Gittins, 5861 Manchester avenue, was taken from Delmar boulevard and Aubert avenue; the auto of O. J. Willis, 14 North King's highway, which was stolen from in front of his home, was found at Elliot avenue and Bremen street, and the auto of Harry J. Symons, 3903 Greer avenue, stolen from in front of 3129 Morgan street, was found in front of 3119 Sheridan avenue.

Sam Kapps, 16 years old, of 4435 Tennessee avenue, was cut and bruised.

SHARP DECLINE RECORDED IN THE COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 7 to 15 points today with all deliveries making new low ground for the movement in response to lower Liverpool cables. Oct. sold off to 14.81c, Dec. to 14.98c and Jan. to 15.09c on the call, or about 139 to 167 points under recent high records. There was further liquidation and Southern hedge selling, but early offerings were well taken by trade buyers and active covering with the result that prices rallied some 10 or 12 points from the lowest shortly after the call.

Private Liverpool cables said early hedge selling had been absorbed by continental buying, with the market later easing off under better crop accounts from Texas.

The market became comparatively quiet late in the morning. Rallies seemed to meet selling orders, but there was buying on slight declines, and the tone was fairly steady, with prices holding some 5 to 6 points under Saturday's closing figures around 15.08c for December. Reports from Boston say that Eastern mills are buying and pricing cotton freely around present prices. The closing was fairly steady.

A renewal of Southern selling carried price at midday 12 to 17 points net lower on active positions, but later the loss was fully recovered on a demand from shorts and unfavorable Mississippi advices claiming extensive boll weevil damage and that farmers are unwilling to sell on declines. The closing was irregular.

Liverpool Cotton Weak.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 11.—Cotton: Spot weak; good middling 941; middling, 9.25; low middling, 9.09; sales 10,000; 2500 for speculation and export.

With Liverpool cables 2d to 3d lower, professionals looked for an easier tone in the local wheat market today. But after swinging slightly over, then fractionally under Saturday's close, trade settled into a rut slightly favoring the bulls. In the finish hour the market gained strength on a sharp decrease in the domestic visible supply. The close was firm and about 1c over Saturday's finish.

Receipts showed a tendency to increase in the Northwest, but the winter wheat movement is light, and the total primary figures were well below last year.

Some selling came from pit traders on the theory that the crop situation, as a factor in the market, had temporarily lost its force, owing to the news being "all out," while the foreign political situation might, at any time, develop something of a bearish character, especially relative to the opening of the Dardanelles, which would mean shipments of Russian wheat to Europe. Argentine statistics were bearish, and Broomhall reported the weather favorable in the southern country.

Broomhall's Liverpool cable was bearish in tone. It said:

"Wheat opened quiet and inclined lower, with easier feeling in spot and larger import arrivals. Spot market was 3d lower. Cargo market for Manitobas and winters was 6d lower. Weather in United Kingdom and France is better and floating quantity increased. General market is quiet and lacking special feature. Corn was steadier, with firmer Plate offers, but easiness in America checked an advance. Parcel market was easier; Americans 3d lower; Plates were unchanged. An official report covering up to Sept. 1 gives Great Britain wheat condition at 95 per cent; barley, 99 per cent; oats, 95 per cent of an average crop."

Corn futures were weak and over 1c lower, on fine weather for the late crop, liberal receipts and less urgent cash demands. Liverpool cables were unchanged to ½d higher. Corn closed about 1c lower.

Total primary wheat receipts were 2,542,000 bu, against 3,179,000 bu last year; shipments, 1,616,000 bu, against 1,483,000 bu.

Corn receipts, 788,000 bu, against 692,000 bu; shipments, 708,000 bu, against 298,000 bu.

Oats receipts, 1,825,000 bu, against 1,625,000 bu; shipments, 789,000 bu, against 1,213,000 bu.

Northwest cars—Minneapolis, 840 today, 1284 last year; Duluth, 152 today, 1369 last year; Winnipeg, 499 today, 1182 last year; total, 1491 today, 3835 last year.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 50,000 bu for two days.

The domestic visible of wheat decreased 690,000 bu last week; corn increased 188,000 bu; oats increased 3,711,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled:

"United Kingdom—Shipments to United Kingdom last week showed a material increase, being 6,800,000 bu, largely from America. Stocks decreased and floating quantity increased with expectations of larger daily arrivals this week. Weather improved.

"Pacific Coast—Shipping has again resumed to South America and a fair business is reported. Half of the wheat crop has already been sold and three-fourths of the barley crop disposed of. Prices remain high and in seller's favor."

WHEAT IS LOWER; THEN HIGHER IN CHICAGO PIT

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Wheat prices developed considerable strength today, owing to the absence of selling pressure. The surrender of the Rumanian fortress of Silistria appeared to have a tendency to make the bears cautious. Then, too, world shipments were lighter, and there was a decrease in the total stock on hand in Great Britain. Welcome rains in Kansas, however, led subsequently to a reaction.

Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c decline to a rise of ¾c, were followed by a substantial general upturn, but most of the gains failed to hold.

Lack of export business acted later as a weight on the market, and so too did a lessening of demand from millers. A decrease in the United States visible supply, however, caused a sharp rally. The close was unsettled, ⅝c to 1¼c higher; with December at $1.54⅝ and May at $1.55⅛.

Fine weather for maturing the crop brought about an additional setback in prices, but the market then rallied somewhat with wheat. The close was nervous at 1c to 1⅜c net decline.

Corn weakness as a result of assertions that the Illinois crop had of late made a wonderful improvement. It was said the entire State would be safe from frost by the first of October. After opening ¼c to ⅝c lower, the market underwent a decided sag. Oats sympathized with wheat. The depression in corn, though, finally became more than an offset. Lower prices on hogs turned provisions down grade. Selling was especially liberal in October lard.

Oh Dear! Oh Dear!

GILLIGAN, the Demon Swatter, stepped up to the plate.

It was the last half of the ninth inning with the score tied and two men out.

Gilligan swung at the first ball and missed.

The next one was a ball and the next and the next.

The umpire called the next one a strike, though 20,000 fans disagreed with him.

"This one tells the tale," said everybody to his next neighbor.

Gilligan gripped his bat firmly, dug his spikes into the ground and swung with all his might.

Crack! The ball sped as if shot out of a cannon, far over the center field fence, while the Demon trotted round the bases amid the plaudits of the multitude.

When the excitement had subsided a bit a girl—oh, she was a beautiful girl. You ought to have seen her—well, anyhow, this girl touched her escort timidly on the arm and asked in dulcet tones:

"Does the batter have to pay for the ball when he loses it over the fence like that?"

And yet some people think women should be allowed to vote.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One

HE'S what you call a close student of the drama?"

"Yep, pretty close. Never goes to a show 'ceptin' on a pass."

No Joke.

"I NEED a lot of new things this fall," began Mrs. Wife. "We have to get a new rug for the dining room and some curtains for the living room. We need some new dishes, too. And besides, I haven't a thing to wear. I've got to get a new evening dress and a street dress, and a couple of new hats, and I haven't a pair of shoes to my name and"——

Well, what's the joke about this? you ask.

It isn't any joke—that's all.

He Understood.

AS the automobile that had hit him vanished in the distance, the victim sat up and slowly rubbed his head.

"The city should build crossings below grade for pedestrians," he said. "These streets really aren't safe for automobile drivers any more. Every time they drive fast they hit some one, and lots of foolish people cross the street diagonally, as I did, instead of at the crosings."

Then he sank back and let the ambulance take him away. He was an automobile owner himself.

Kind Word for the U-Boat.

THERE is one thing I like about a submarine," said Mr. Growcher as a canoeing party passed.

"What's that?"

"If the people on board take a sudden notion to sing 'Sailing, Sailing, Over the Bounding Main,' they will probably be so deep down that innocent bystanders can't hear them."

TRUE love doesn't laugh at locksmiths or at anything else. It just sighs and sighs.

The Duffer.

I HEARD today that Mr. Brown plays golf on Sunday."

"Well, what of it?"

"I think it's dreadfully wicked."

"It's wicked to play the kind of golf Brown does on any day of the week."

Now Which?

A SWEDE went into a drug store to use a long distance phone. He talked 75 cents' worth and had only 30 cents in his pockets. The druggist had him arrested.

"What's the charge?" asked the police sergeant.

"Larceny," said the irate druggist.

"And what did he steal—the time or the telephone?" asked the sergeant, sarcastically.

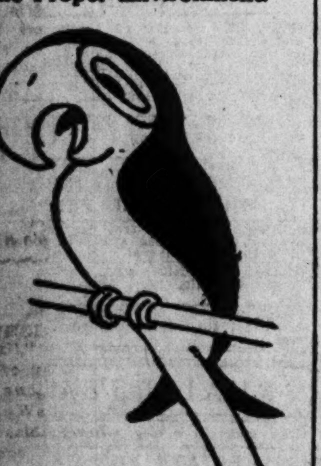
50 Cents for Uplift.

WIFIE: Alfred, will you let me have 50 cents to contribute to my Uplift Society?

Hubby: Why, I gave you $350 for that last week!

Wifie: Oh, no. The three-fifty was to get me a new dress and hat to wear to the Society's lawn fete!—Judge.

The Proper Environment.



[illegible] Parrot: Gee, I wish the [illegible] would take me out on the golf links. I haven't learned a new cuss word in over a month."

"OH, George," said Mrs. Bridge, "on your way downtown this morning will you stop at the grocer's and order two pounds of butter and a half pound of tea and some crackers?"

"Yes, my dear."

"And would you mind leaving my skirt at the tailor's as you go by?"
